Hurricane Stalls Over Gulf Waters

Blocked by High Pressure System, Lashes Sea With Winds to 126-MPH

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez, growing meaner again over the warm waters of the Gulf of Mexico, ground today to an ominous stop, lashing the seas with winds up to 126 miles an hour.

Bill May Be Key to Quitting Solons Hopeful Of Oct. 22 Date

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 15th and final appropriation bill not yet on the drafting board may hold the answer to whether Congress can hit its current adjournment target of Oct. 22.

It provides financing for some of the more costly and controversial domestic programs, including the war on poverty and aid for education.

No Estimate Yet
The bill can't start its tedious journey through the House and the Senate until the House Appropriations Committee writes it.

It can't write the bill until separate measures giving legal status to the poverty and education programs have cleared Congress and have been signed by the President.

The poverty bill was passed last week by the House and Tuesday night by the Senate. It still must go to a Senate-House conference for adjustment of extensive differences.

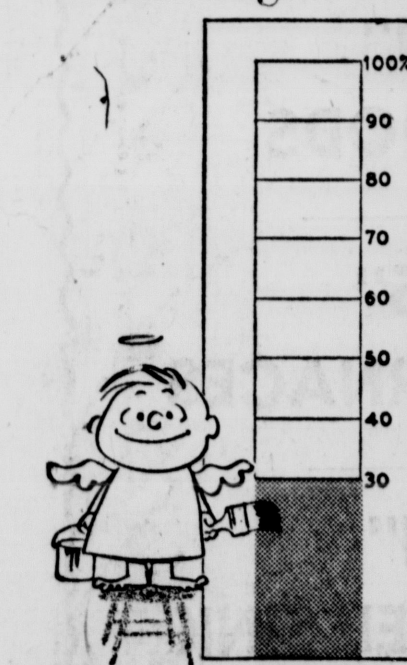

May Huddle Next Week

Will Air Needs For More Mental Health Facilities

Members of the Executive Committee of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health will meet with Dr. Hyman Pleasure, state deputy commissioner for local services, Thursday at the Gov. Clinton Hotel at 7:30 p. m. to discuss the needs for additional health facilities in the county.

The meeting is by invitation and has purposely been kept to a minimum group so that those present may go into detail with Dr. Pleasure on the provisions for State and Federal government. (Continued on Page 12, Col. 1) pressure system over the gulf, the killer storm stalled after hitting the Dry Tortugas, 68 miles west of Key West, with gusts of 114 to 126 mile velocity.

Two Logical Choices
Unable to turn northward toward the upper Gulf Coast states, Inez now had two logical choices. She could swing back to northeast and strike Florida another blow—this time a more deadly one. Or she could move to the southwest, toward central America.

Forecasters, dealing with the most unpredictable storm ever to howl out of the tropics, predicted that Inez would remain stationary for 24 hours before going on the prowl again.

While she made up her mind, Inez could suck up warm moisture from the gulf—the stuff that feeds fury into a hurricane—and grow more vicious by the hour.

Little Key West Damage
Inez hammered Key West with 90-mile winds, leaving surprisingly little damage behind. A killer in the Caribbean, Inez was just a pesky windstorm in the Florida Keys.

Key West, the nation's southernmost city, was blacked out by power failure, but otherwise the 40,000 residents saw little damage as they emerged from their homes in the blustery aftermath of the storm.

Born in the Atlantic Ocean, Inez cut a path of death and destruction through the Caribbean Sea, then returned to the Atlantic to lash the Bahamas and Florida.

In 12th Day
Now, in her 12th day, she was in the Gulf, with 700,000 square miles of warm tropic water to refuel her engine and new coastal targets in nearly all directions.

Lights blinked out in Key West and hundreds huddled inside shelters during a wild night in the blacked-out city.

Hurricane winds continued to rage in the lower Florida Keys as Inez moved into the Gulf across the Dry Tortugas, site of the Fort Jefferson National Monument, 68 miles out of Key West.

In the storm's wake, gusts of gale force continued throughout the Keys and up to the marshy southern rim of the Florida peninsula.

Along the southeast Florida "Gold Coast," which suffered only nuisance damage during a 24-hour hammering by gales up to 70 miles an hour, conditions were returning to normal.

Forecasters, baffled for days by the vicious storm's erratic movements, wouldn't guess at her future course beyond tonight. By then, she should be gathering strength 300 miles west of the Keys.

From that area, depending on the guiding forces of nature, Inez could swing back over Florida toward the Atlantic again, roar into the southern Gulf states or go west to Central America.

BISHOP, CLERICS CONFER—Bishop James E. McManus, CSSR, meets with area priests to discuss his recent assignment as episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties. Bishop McManus is one of six vicars appointed by Francis Cardinal Spellman in the Archdiocese of New York to assist him in his pastoral office. They will be commissioned by Cardinal Spellman at St. Patrick's Cathedral Monday 5:30 p. m. Bishop McManus will be installed as episcopal vicar and pastor of the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen, Wednesday noon, Oct. 12 at Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, conferring with Bishop McManus, right, are (l-r) the Rt. Rev. James J. McNally, pastor of St. Catherine Labourer Church, Lake Katrine; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church and dean of Ulster County and the Very Rev. John Lerhman, rector of Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary.

Medical Group Bids Usage as Infirmary

The Medical Society of the County of Ulster passed a recommendation at its meeting Tuesday night that the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital be transferred to the Ulster County Welfare Department to be used as an infirmary.

Further, it was also recommended that the out-patient department of the Tuberculosis Hospital be retained as a separate facility and operate as it is at this time under the Ulster County Health Department.

Forwarded to Supervisors
The recommendation has been forwarded to the Ulster County Board of Supervisors for consideration at their next meeting.

The resolution was proposed by Dr. Robert F. Moseley and was passed by the medical group after the following facts were pointed out:

"The State of New York maintains excellent facilities for the complete care and treatment of Tuberculosis at an easily accessible location in Opeenta.

"The low occupancy rate of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital renders the continued use of this facility as a Tuberculosis Hospital medically and economically impractical.

"The utilization of this facility for the care of Chronic Diseases has not developed an appreciable demand in the past year.

Sees Unwarranted Costs
"The conversion of this facility to a Chronic Disease Hospital would appear impractical because of lack of approval by various agencies for payment of hospital costs, and because of difficulties in obtaining a medical staff, and because of unwarranted cost to the County of Ulster.

"There is a great immediate need for infirmary beds for the care of aged and ill."

South Vietnamese, Koreans Assist U. S. Infantrymen in Mauling Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. air cavalrymen and allied forces pressed relentlessly in on a badly mauled Communist force near the coast of central Viet Nam today and reported a mounting toll of 637 enemy troops killed or captured in four days of fighting.

The helicopter-borne American troops pushing down from the north claimed 43 more North Vietnamese regulars or Viet Cong killed in the last 24 hours of Operation Irving and 60 more captured.

ROKs Kill 77
Units of the South Korean Tiger Division, battering at the Reds from the south, said they killed 77 more Communists and captured three. Along with South Vietnamese infantrymen holding the western flank, the allied total reported since Sunday reached 443 enemy killed and an unprecedented 194 captured.

The U.S. air offensive against North Viet Nam was hampered by foul weather, but B52 bombers, flying at high altitudes above the weather, struck twice in South Viet Nam.

The eight-engine jets hit at dawn today against a Communist bivouac and storage area 45 miles northwest of Qui Nhon, about 20 miles north of the allied forces in Operation Irving.

Hit Strongholds
Other formations of B52s struck simultaneously at Viet Cong strongholds in the Seven Mountains area along the Cambodian border.

NEW YORK (AP) — French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville reportedly told President Johnson that North Viet Nam no longer feels it can win a military victory in South Viet Nam, the New York Times said today.

But the French diplomat also was said to have told the President at their meeting Tuesday that the Hanoi regime is in no mood to negotiate a cease-fire, the Times reported.

Indicating that its information came from close associates of the French foreign minister, the Times dispatch from Washington reported:

Couve de Murville explained that Hanoi believes it can keep its troops fighting indefinitely in South Viet Nam and also thinks published U.S. terms for a cease-fire are not clear.

Layoff 45,000 Car Workers, Cut 1967 Production

DETROIT (AP) — Layoffs spread today to more than 45,000 workers at Chrysler Corp. and General Motors Corp., as auto industry strikes forced cutbacks in production of 1967 cars.

More than 42,600 Chrysler workers were slated to be idled by the end of shifts today because of a strike at a key stamping plant in Twinsburg, Ohio.

More than 4,800 United Auto workers were idled today. (Continued on Page 32, Col. 5)

Home Construction Dwindles, Will Take 2 Years to Catch Up

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Construction of new houses across the country is off sharply this year as interest rates climb.

Many families are having trouble borrowing money to buy new homes.

"Home building has all but been shattered by tight money," said Burton E. Smith, president of the California Real Estate Association. "I never have seen it so tight, so bad. If and when building starts up again, it will take the builders two years to catch up with the demand."

An Associated Press survey of major cities found: Housing starts in Southern California this year have been the lowest since 1944. In Dallas, they are the lowest

Aver Trial Court Erred in Hearing Police Testimony

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals reversed today the death-penalty conviction of Jack Ruby for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, Oswald was identified by the Warren Commission as President Kennedy's assassin.

The state's highest court for criminal cases sent the case back for retrial in some county other than Dallas where it originally was tried.

Rule on Evidence
The three-man court held that the trial court erred in admitting as evidence testimony by police officers of conversations with Ruby shortly after the killing.

A policeman testified that Ruby told him he had seen Oswald in a police lineup and that when he saw the expression on Oswald's face he decided he would kill Oswald if he got the chance.

"Obviously this statement constituted an oral confession of premeditation made while in police custody and therefore was not admissible. The admission of this testimony was clearly injurious and calls for reversal of this conviction," the opinion said.

Ruby was convicted in March 1964 for the slaying which was nationally televised. An estimated 140 million viewers saw Ruby gun down Oswald on Nov. 24, 1963, as Oswald was being taken (Continued on Page 12, Col. 1)

Left in committee was a measure that would permit the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency to draw from the $6,000,846 earmarked for uptown urban renewal and Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan's bid for street lighting improvement.

A serial bond issue for 34 new voting machines was approved, and proposed city purchase of the Senate parking lot lacked sufficient votes although a committee report was adopted.

A proposal to establish a mid-town parking lot was left in committee.

The mayor was voted a member of the Board of Water Commissioners and revenue anticipation note of $180,000 was approved.

Koenig Votes Twice
Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig, after the 12 alderman split even in their voting, was called upon twice to vote. His vote brought approval of a committee report on voting machines, and on the Senate parking lot report, but bond issue proposals for both failed to get the required vote.

Pay raises, as approved, bring salaries of the city treasurer and clerk from $6,000 to $8,500, the assessor from $5,000 to $7,500, corporation counsel from $6,000 to $7,500, alderman-at-Large, $1,800 to $2,500, and aldermen from $1,000 to $1,500.

Aldermen John J. Naccarato (R) Third Ward, Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward, Raymond J. Armata (R) 11th Ward and John Machione (R) 12th Ward, voted against the raises for the aldermen and alderman-at-Large.

Would Let Public Vote

Hurley Man Hurt Seriously, Is Pinned by Heavy Machine

A 35-year-old Hurley man was seriously injured at 1:15 p. m. Tuesday when he was pinned beneath a heavy machine in a sand-bank off Route 199, Town of Red Hook, after a cave-in.

State Police Sergeant W. F. Urey of the Rhinebeck-Hyde Park substation, reported William J. Denter, of Elmendorf Heights, Hurley, suffered a fractured right leg, severe lacerations of the abdomen and other injuries.

Denter was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital and treated. Later he was transferred to Kingston Hospital where his condition was listed as fair.

According to an investigation by Troopers Thomas Clark and Ronald McPhail, Denter was operating a pay loader in the sand bank of the Concord Norfolk Gravel Corp., when he saw a 15-foot bank caving in toward him. Denter jumped off the machine but didn't leap far enough to avoid the loader which toppled over on his leg and abdomen.

Other workmen went to the aid of the injured man and freed him. He was rushed to the hospital in Rhinebeck.

Sale of 7 B26s

Letter Reveals
$739,910 Profit
On Portugal Deal

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A letter from a French businessman to his wife reveals that a $739,910 profit would have been made on the sale of some B-26 bombers to Portugal.

Three letters were introduced Tuesday during testimony in a trial of two men charged with conspiring to illegally export seven bombers to Portugal in 1965.

Wife as Agent

U.S. Atty. John T. Curtin described the letters as business letters in which Henri de Montmarin, 38, one of the defendants asked his wife to act as his agent in dealings with European businessmen in connection with the bomber deal.

Judge John O. Henderson of U.S. District Court ruled that the letters were inadmissible as evidence, contending they were not significantly connected with the government's case. In one letter, de Montmarin told his wife the Portuguese were paying $1.5 million for the airplanes and that there would be a $739,910 profit to be split three ways.

Former Pilot

On trial with de Montmarin is John R. Hawke, 28, a former pilot in the Royal Air Force and now of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

During the trial, Curtin also said that the general counsel of the U.S. Central Intelligence agency could testify.

Several CIA officials including Director Richard Helms, have been subpoenaed at the request of Hawke's lawyer. Hawke contends the CIA backed the export deal, but the agency has denied this.

Curtin asked Henderson to quash the subpoena for Richard Bissell, former CIA deputy director, and a portion of a subpoena directing that a CIA representative produce any file the agency may have on the conspiracy case.

Henderson said he would hear oral arguments on the motions after the government ended its case.

Asks Realignment
Of Mohawk Air
Routes, Changes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board examiner recommends that Mohawk Airlines' routes be realigned and simplified to include virtually all the changes the Utica-based airline has requested.

Recommendations made Tuesday include allowing Mohawk to operate nonstop between New York State cities and Detroit, between Albany and Cleveland, and between western New York cities and the Hartford, Conn., area.

Should Be Permissive

The examiner, Milton H. Shapiro, said the new services should be permissive rather than mandatory, so that Mohawk need not provide the service if operating losses result.

He said the restrictions against nonstop authority, initially imposed on Mohawk to protect American Airlines, were no longer needed since there has been no proof that American would suffer competitively.

Mohawk's authority to serve Olean, N.Y., should be continued, he said, but there was no need to order Mohawk to provide a specific type of service there.

The revised certificate, if adopted by the board in line with the examiner's suggestions, would give Mohawk permission to provide:

1—Nonstop service between Detroit and Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Rochester, Syracuse and Albany, N.Y.

2—Nonstop service between Hartford, Conn., Springfield, Westfield, Mass., and Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

4—Nonstop service between Saranac Lake-Lake Placid and Utica-Rome, N.Y.

5—One-stop service between Boston and Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

6—One-stop service between Hartford-Springfield, Westfield and Detroit.

7—One-stop service between Erie, Pa., and Hartford-Springfield-Westfield, Providence, R.I., and Boston.

8—Two-stop service between Detroit and Boston. The examiner recommended extension of Mohawk's route between Cleveland and Syracuse and Utica-Rome eastward to Boston by way of Albany, Hartford and Providence.

Labor Turmoil Moves
To Knoll's 'A' Lab

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Labor turmoil spread today to the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory of the General Electric Co. in the wake of a sympathy walk-out by 200 union members Tuesday.

The workers, members Local 301-AE of the International Union of Electrical Workers, joined members of Teamsters Local 294, which has been on strike over undisclosed issues for more than two weeks.

A spokesman for the plant said only 97 of the 373 members of the IUE local crossed picket lines set up by the Teamsters. Jack Suarez, president of the IUE group, said teamsters strike was "legitimate and I'm not going to order anyone to cross the picket lines."

Adams Assails State's Medicaid

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)— If the other 49 states were to file equally liberal programs with Washington, such as New York State's medical assistance program, "the federal government would be bankrupt in five years," says Paul L. Adams, Conservative Party candidate for governor.

Adams called the medical assistance law a "gargantuan monstrosity" and governmental "irresponsibility at its worse." His remarks came Tuesday during speaking engagements here and in the nearby Town of Tonawanda.

State 'Welfare Mecca'

Noting the high-income eligibility levels of the program, Adams said that a situation arises "whereby one half of the state is taking care of the other half."

He described New York as a

"welfare mecca" and urged a one-year residency requirement for relief recipients. Adams, academic dean of Roberts Wesleyan College near Rochester, described the Liberal Party's nomination of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. for Governor as a "political play" and said "Roosevelt is in the campaign to help Gov. Rockefeller."

He suggested an arrangement between the Republicans and Liberals.

The Conservative candidate said there was a close relationship between Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits and Alex Rose, vice chairman of the Liberal Party.

"Mr. Rose is close to Sen. Javits and the senator is close to Gov. Rockefeller," Adams said. "Mr. Roosevelt is going to help Gov. Rockefeller. This suggests an arrangement."

If a close race developed be-between the Republican Rockefeller and Democratic candidate Frank D. O'Connor, Liberals would vote for Rockefeller, Adams said. If the race were not close, Liberals would vote for Roosevelt, the Conservative added.

Asked to explain his logic, Adams replied: "Gov. Rockefeller is more acceptable to the Liberal Party than is Mr. O'Connor."

Liberals have endorsed the Democratic nominee in past elections. The Liberals, however, refused to choose O'Connor as their candidate.

Editor, The Freeman

Your recent article, September 28th, with respect to the joint executive meeting of the Rosendale Town Board and the Rosendale Village Board, was certainly not correct.

I was the lone citizen mentioned in your article. However, there were numerous other taxpayers who were told that they would not be admitted, as it was an executive session.

To keep the record straight, may I point out the following: In checking the law prior to the meeting, I learned that an executive session was not legal between two different political units.

In my opinion, Supervisor DeFelice, could not have all citizens present at a legal executive meeting, as he claimed he desired. Since the meeting was not legal as an executive session, Mr. DeFelice could have permitted any Town taxpayer to attend.

Some members of the Town Board and the Village Board were in agreement to permit an open meeting.

Sincerely yours,
ALFRED ACKERMAN

American Jumps Prices for '67's

DETROIT (AP)— American Motors Corp., as expected, Tuesday joined the auto industry's Big Three, in announcing increased prices for 1967 models.

The increases ranged from $56 to $98 per car and averaged out to $76 for the company's nine lines.

American Motors, which has had a difficult time in recent months financially, delayed its price announcement until two days before it puts its new cars on display.

Ford, General Motors and Chrysler all announced their new prices last week just before putting their new models on the market. Their increases ranged from $54 for GM cars to $68 for Chrysler.

Ford and Chrysler originally announced increases of more than $100, but cut back to remain competitive with GM.

Wilson Offers Data On Vote Questions

Today Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County released the fourth in a series of informational articles on the 12 state-wide questions which the voters will be called upon to decide this November. Wilson offers a brief explanation of the fifth and sixth amendments to the State Constitution which deal with providing additional pension benefits to the widows of retired teachers, and a proposed change in the residency requirements for voters.

Assemblyman Wilson pointed out that under the present provisions of the State Constitution, the Legislature can authorize increases in pension allowances for teachers in the State who retired years ago, and whose pensions are now not adequate to meet the needs of today's inflationary economy. Wilson said it is most unfortunate that the irresponsible fiscal policies of the Federal government have caused such a hardship on our older citizens who are forced to subsist on pensions, both public and private, which can no longer provide for their needs. The Assemblyman said the State Legislature has passed many laws to ease this situation for retired teachers, but that the Constitution does not allow the same type of legislation for the widows of these retired teachers. According to Wilson, amendment five on this year's ballot would permit the Legislature to introduce measures designed to make pension adjustments for the widows.

The Ulster County Assemblyman went on to say that the State Constitution demands that in order to become a qualified voter, a person has to meet certain residency requirements. Under the existing provisions a potential voter must have lived for at least one year in New York State before they are eligible to vote, and in addition to this they must have resided for at least four months in their particular county, city, or village, and for at least 30 days in their election district. Wilson said there has been much agitation to liberalize these residency requirements in the State, and that under the proposed constitutional amendment there would be a drastic change in the basic requirements. The Assemblyman said that amendment would reduce the requirement for residence in the State, as well as in the county, city, or village to three months prior to election day, and would completely eliminate any requirement concerning residence in an election district.

REGISTER THIS WEEK

Friday and Saturday, October 7 and 8 are the first two days of registration in the City of Kingston for the general election on November 8. The polls will be open both these days from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

The two final days of registration in the city will be Friday, October 14, when the polls will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and on Saturday, October 15 from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Residents of Kingston who fail to go to the polls and register on one of these four days will be unable to vote in the November 8 general election.

Ulster County residents in areas outside the City of Kingston who have not voted in a general election during the past four years must register before they can vote. The polls in the non-personal registration areas will be open for registration Saturday, October 8 from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. and again on Saturday, October 15 from 1 to 10 p. m.

Residents should check to make sure their names are on the registration rolls. If you have been registered in a non-personal registration district and move within the same county, you may still vote in your prior election district without having to register.

First voters who meet the qualifications—21 years of age, a resident of the state one year, the county four months and the election district 30 days—must prove ability to read and write by submitting a certificate or diploma from grade, high school or college or fill out an affidavit that you have finished the eighth grade.

County, state and national offices will be filled in this year's very important general election. The offices are:

County—Clerk and coroner.
State—Governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller, senator and assemblyman.

National—Congressman.
In addition, New York State voters will be called upon to name delegates to the Constitutional Convention. These delegates will be given the responsibility of reviewing and revising the basic law of our state.

Voters also will be given the opportunity to pass on twelve state-wide questions.

Offices on the ballot in this election pertain to all levels of government and they are vital to all of us. Every qualified voter should make it his personal business to register so that he can express an opinion at the polls.

The right of voting is one of the great privileges of American citizenship. It should not be treated lightly or disregarded. This and all other privileges of citizenship are wasted on people who do not vote.

It seems hardly necessary to remind citizens that unless they are registered they cannot vote.

Plan to register Friday or Saturday of this week. Putting it off may cost you your vote as something may happen to prevent your registering next week.

HIRE THE HANDICAP

Throughout the year, proclamations are issued for "special" weeks for many different causes. Right now we are observing a very special one that is of importance to a small and courageous group of our fellow citizens. It is "Hire the Handicapped Week."

Nationwide studies have shown that rehabilitated workers are very valuable members of the labor force of this country. Experience has shown that with one strike against them at the start, they are better than average to produce superb work. The handicapped worker has a strong desire to produce the very best possible work.

Every effort should be made by local employers wherever possible to hire the handicapped worker with the special training for the job. Both the worker and the business will benefit.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
THE SWIMMERS' VIEW OF MAO'S RED CHINA

Taipei, Taiwan—In Red China they are taking Mao Tse-tung's admonition to practice swimming, but some of the Chinese have been swimming to get away from Mao.

Two of the swimmers have turned up here on Taiwan. I talked with them at the office of the Mainland Relief Association in Taipei, and with a third fellow who, though he didn't actually swim, drifted about in a broken fishing boat for seventy-two hours until some Japanese saved him.

One of the swimmers, Hsu Wei-hsun, made it from Kwangtung province to Portuguese Macao, a distance of three miles, on his second try. The other, Lin Yung-an, got out from Fukien province to the Free Chinese island of Quemoy by clinging to the inflated inner tube of a basketball through four miles of buffeting currents. The stories they have to tell are of a crazy, chaotic condition on the mainland, and it is by listening to such stories that the Free Chinese are convinced that Mao's grip on his 700 million underlings is not what it seems to the western world.

Hsu Wei-hsun, a biochemist who would like to challenge Mao to a long distance swimming race, escaped because the Maoist military guards who frustrated his first try in the waters off Kwangtung province didn't have their hearts in detaining him. Hsu had come a long way to get to Kwangtung after his escape from a prison camp in Manchuria near the Soviet border. Nobody bothered him on the trains. On the shore opposite Macao he got himself an inner tube, but was caught by the border guards. Surprisingly, they let him go. One of them whispered some advice to him before releasing him.

"I admire your courage," he said. "But the next time you try to swim don't be seen by so many people. Keep it a secret. Do it more carefully."

So Hsu waited and "did it more carefully." Midway to Macao some guards in a boat discovered him again. But they didn't fire, and when he explained that he was already in Portuguese territorial waters they let him swim on.

Lin Yung-an, a bright, hardy-looking young man of 25 who had been indoctrinated by the Communists for most of his life, decided in early August of this year that the economic crisis and the political terror on the mainland were just too much to take. He started his swim to Quemoy to get away from the "cultural revolution." He says that the Red Guards don't really have any "belief and will, they just go with the crowd."

"Indoctrination is one thing," Lin told me, "but reception is another."

The prevalence of such opinions among new refugees from the mainland could be deceptive. Naturally they are the views of an enterprising, but if they are only fifty per cent correct, they adequately explain the mixed mood of optimism and frustration that grips the leaders of the Free Chinese. These leaders are convinced that a break on the mainland is coming. But they don't know how to be on hand to take advantage of the break.

The Free Chinese armed forces, taken "pound for pound" as they used to say of middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson, must be as good as any in the world. I watched a "halo" (high altitude, low opening) parachute jumping drill in southern Taiwan, and you couldn't have asked for anything smarter. Coming down from five thousand feet up, the parachutists landed at spaced intervals in a sugar cane field and were ready for "action" within seconds. I saw a performance by a marine company in which heavy rifles were twirled like so many light batons by drum majors. It beat anything by the Moscow ballet for both intricacy and precision. The only trouble is that the Free Chinese lack bombing planes to support their parachutists, and landing craft to put marines ashore. They can't understand why Washington gives them only defensive fighter planes and clamps down on landing craft.

Opportunity is knocking on the mainland if what the swimmers say is all accurate. But the "liberals" in America cling to the idea that Mao Tse-tung is (a) invincible and (b) that he must in time give way to some "soft" successors. The swimmers would tell the "liberals" that such views are absolutely crazy.

Silos, Moldy Hay Pose
Hazards to the Farmer

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Lung disease, farmer's lung has been recognized for many years but the cause was discovered less than two years ago. It is a mold found in spoiled hay and is inhaled by farmers who pitch the hay.

The victim may develop chills and fever, cough, shortness of breath and weakness within a few hours after exposure to the mold. The disease may last several days or several weeks but complete recovery is the rule. An attack does not produce immunity because the disease is not an infection as was thought at first but an allergic reaction.

After repeated attacks the victim may develop emphysema. Since there is no specific treatment except to avoid contact with mold hay, it would seem wise for a victim to wear some form of respirator when he can't stay out of the hay.

A similar farm hazard, silofiller's disease, is neither an infection nor an allergy but a form of poisoning. When a silo is filled, various oxides of nitrogen start to form. These reach a high concentration within a day or two and any farmer who enters the silo within two to six days after it has been filled is exposed to these oxides, the chief offender being nitrogen dioxide.

The onset of symptoms is even more sudden than in the case of farmer's lung. Cough and shortness of breath occur within minutes after exposure. Just as the victim appears to be improving after two or three weeks, a sudden relapse with chills and fever often occurs.

Warning: All freshly filled silos should be locked for at least 10 days to prevent children or unwary adults from entering them.

Q—Is there such a disease as catarrh? What is the best treatment for it?

A—Catarrh is an outmoded term for inflammation with the production of phlegm used chiefly in connection with the respiratory tract. Thus it has been applied to the postnasal drip of chronic sinusitis, the misery of hay fever and chronic bronchitis. The treatment includes antihistamines for hay fever, nasal decongestants for blocked sinuses and expectorants to loosen the cough of bronchitis.

first P-TA meeting. An informal and quite unscientific sampling indicates that many of them, including some of the reluctant ones, rather enjoyed the occasion. For one thing, they made again the recurrent discovery that the teachers—if one excepts those veterans remembered perhaps from ones' own schooldays—grow younger every year.

But this was a kind of fringe benefit. A lot of fathers found that, once the foderol of introductions and such was out of the way, it was fun to sit down in Johnny's classroom and learn something about what—and how—Johnny learns these days. To anyone who hasn't kept up with developments it may come as a pleasing revelation. A P-TA meeting may not have the drama of a TV Western (though in some cases this would be debatable) but it does have its good points.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Politically, Negroes in this country are in a time of serious downturn.

They could recover somewhat in the elections of Nov. 8, but their prospects are not altogether bright.

The upset victory of segregationist Lester Maddox in the runoff for Georgia's Democratic governorship nomination is merely the latest and most striking evidence of reversal in Negro political fortunes. He campaigned wholly on the race issue in the short two weeks between the first primary and the runoff.

This reporter recently watched Maddox in an Atlanta press conference wherein he tried vainly to suggest his interest in and knowledge of broader state affairs in Georgia. He came through simply as a curious paradox—a mild-mannered man symbolic of the toughest possible resistance to racial change.

His racially conservative Republican opponent, Rep. Howard (Bo) Callaway, obviously will offer the Negroes of Georgia no alternative. The racial moderation which has marked the state's last two governors, incumbent Gov. Carl Sanders and Ernest Vandiver, dies with the Maddox victory.

Maddox in 1966 has plenty of company. Segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace and his wife Lurleen, his technical standin for a new term barred to him, appear to be sweeping the boards in Alabama. Democrat James Johnson's hardline views in Arkansas seem to be forcing Republican governorship nominee Winthrop Rockefeller into more conservative racial posture.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Oct. 5, 1946—A first-day registration here of 2,135 voters was 95 more than in 1945.

City Assessor James H. Betts reported a total assessment here of $23,890,326.

First work was in progress on the building of a boy scout camp lake at East Jewett.

Congressman Jay LeFevre, of New Paltz, was due to address the Saugerties P-TA Oct. 9.

Oct. 5, 1965 — Roswell Coles.

Waiting in the wings for a 1967 try at another term is Mississippi's former Gov. Ross Barnett, arch-segregationist. He has no visible opposition.

Outside the South, Maryland's Democratic governorship nominee, George Mahoney, avowed adversary of open housing, is accepted as a go-slow type on race matters. In California, Republican Ronald Reagan is being classified the same way.

All of this is bad news for Negroes, South and North, who are contending that the pace of their advance in U. S. society is not too fast but too slow.

Ironically, the grim outlook for Negroes develops in the South at a time when Negro voting registration, spurred by the 1965 civil rights act and by diligence of the Voter Education Project, is at record highs in state after state.

Hundreds of thousands of Negroes are prepared to vote for the first time—but they have no one to vote for. In Alabama, there is some reason to believe, after talks with Negro leaders, that many will vote for Lurleen Wallace rather than turn to still another racial conservative, Rep. James Martin, her GOP foe.

The nation's present "backlash mood" is supported by the public opinion polls. By now, everybody knows what circumstances underlie that mood—a third straight summer of serious Negro rioting in the streets of many cities, heavy pressure for open housing, revolutionary proposals for breaking the iron grip of the defacto school segregation in countless communities, cries of "black power" filling the air.

Even before the current flurry of segregationist victories at the polls reached full dimension, Negroes were suffering the political consequences of the country's altered mood. California voters turned down a bond issue for a badly needed hospital in Los Angeles' Watts district, scene of 1965's worst riot. The U. S. Senate killed a new civil rights bill with an open housing clause. Broad public support clearly did not exist.

A good many thoughtful responsible white and Negro leaders are saying that only massive, very costly programs can break the disadvantaged Negro out of the urban ghetto, school his children adequately and provide good jobs.

The unassailable truth is that at this turn in U. S. history there is not the faintest chance of winning the necessary public—and legislative—support for such huge endeavors.

The lid is on. The Negroes are losing. Their momentum of 1962-65 is gone. And every time they take to the streets, as again they have done in San Francisco and St. Louis, they seem to lose not only the open combat but another round in the quiet struggle at the polls as well.

As an old headstone reader, I assure you that there are some funny ones. A long time ago, I was fired for reading the tombstones in Trinity Churchyard.

Lehman Brothers canned their imperishable office boy because he was so busy studying Alexander Hamilton's grave that he dug his own. I had an itty bitty old check for $1,000,000 in my pocket and I didn't deliver it before the bank closed.

This engendered a bitterness toward bankers which endures beyond the grave. Years ago, I was in Matamoros, Pa. and saw the grave of an old Indian fighter. The tombstone read: "Here Lies Tom Quick, who killed more Indians after he died than when he was alive." A puzzlement. My father, who has an annoying habit of explaining things, said that Mr. Quick had died of smallpox. Somebody told him.

Now, I no longer have to trudge from cemetery to cemetery for smiles. Paul Frehm, who draws the Believe It or Not material since the death of Robert Ripley, has sent a collection of "Tombstones and Graveyards." One, from Jacksonville, Fla. reads "I Promise Never to Marry Again. Jack."

In Torryburn, Scotland, there is a headstone written in dialect: "In this Churchyard lies Eppie Coutts. Either here or hereabouts. But where it is none can tell. Till Eppie rise and tell herself." In Pawtucket, R. I. Dr. William Rothwell had a boulder put on his grave. The inscription reads: "This one is on me."

Outside of Thurmont, Md. there is a slab without a name. All it says is: "Here lies an atheist—All dressed up in no place to go." In Tasmania, a stonecutter who was a lousy speller hammered out "Lord. She was Thin." The word was supposed to be "thine." A fiddler is remembered with "Stephen and Time are now both even; Stephen beat time, Now time beats Stephen."

No one but Mr. Bent of Dorsetshire, England, can explain his wife's tombstone: "Here lies the body of Margaret Bent; She kicked up her heels and away she went." A husband in nearby Bedford fixed his better half with: "Perfect Peace—Until we meet again." In New Mexico, town of Ruidoso, the old granite says: "Here lies Wild Bill Britt, Ran for sheriff in '82; Ran from sheriff in '83; Buried in '84." There's a hint of spite in St. Mary's at Bideford, England: "Here lies the body of Mary Sexton, Who pleased many a man and never vex'd one; Unlike the woman under the next stone." In Ithaca, N. Y. there is one at Pleasant Grove Cemetery:

Ponder Whether U.S. Will Still Ignore Soviet Action

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Soviet Union readily admits it is virtually in a state of war with this country, but the United States prefers not to recognize such a condition in any formal way.

The latest revelation—published in the Soviet press—says explicitly that the Soviet Union has sent officers and enlisted men to North Vietnam to instruct the North Vietnamese soldiers in the use of anti-aircraft missiles supplied by the Moscow government.

Some United States aircraft have been shot down while the Russians were on duty at the launching sites, according to disclosures in the Soviet newspapers, which are, of course, controlled by the Moscow government.

The Department of State, when asked to comment, said through its press relations officer that it had been "assumed all along" that Russia had provided technical specialists to help fire anti-aircraft missiles in North Vietnam. When asked whether the subject had been officially discussed between Washington and Moscow, the State Department spokesman said he doubted it.

This is the second time in modern history that the Soviet Union has indirectly engaged in a war against other nations without being subjected to any disciplinary action either by the United Nations or by the countries whose soldiers were being killed by Russian-supplied weapons or troops.

Even when the United Nations sent military forces to Korea in 1950, the Soviet Union brazenly announced a few months later at a U.N. General Assembly meeting that it had supplied arms and ammunition to the Red Chinese to fight American, British and other allied forces operating under the U.N. in Korea.

While the United Nations adopted a resolution denouncing Red China for aggression in Korea, it never took the Soviet Union to task, by resolution or otherwise, for engaging in the Korean War against the forces of members of the United Nations.

American troops are again being killed by airplanes and other weapons furnished by the Soviets. This is the first time, however, that the Soviet government has acknowledged that its military personnel are participating in the Vietnam War. Even though the function of the Soviet technicians is described as "training," the missiles which are used to destroy American planes and strike down U. S. airmen are part of a war operation.

What will the United States do? Government officials apparently have been reluctant to ask Congress for a declaration of a "state of war" in Vietnam, though this is the customary method of warning other countries to abstain from military participation. The precedents of international law are clear—namely, that nations which are not co-belligerents should not be sending arms and ammunition to help either side in a war. Once neutrality is violated, however, punitive measures are available. The United States, for instance, could sever diplomatic relations and cut off all trade with the Soviet Union.

The action of the Russians, moreover, in sending military equipment to Vietnam, as well as officers and enlisted men, is in direct defiance of the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty, which was adopted in October 1954 in conformity with the Charter of the United Nations. It says:

"Each party recognizes that aggression by means of armed attack in the treaty area against any of the parties or against any state or territory which the parties by unanimous agreement may hereafter designate, would endanger its own peace and safety, and agrees that it will in that event act to meet the common danger in accordance with its constitutional processes."

The "treaty area"—as defined in the protocol signed by all the parties to the treaty—includes "the states of Cambodia and Laos and the free territory under the jurisdiction of the state of Vietnam."

The Southeast Asia Treaty was signed by Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Great Britain and the United States. The United States and some of the other signatories have come to the aid of South Vietnam at the invitation of the government in Saigon.

The precedents of international law plainly indict the Soviet Union as having taken a military action against the United States in Vietnam. The question now is whether the United States is going to press the matter before the United Nations and proclaim that any military assistance given to North Vietnam is an act of war against the United States. It hardly seems likely that the Soviet Union's participation in the Vietnam War will continue to be ignored by the American government.

"While on earth my knee was lame, I had to nurse and heed it; But now I've gone to a better place, Where I don't even need it."

In Lincoln, Maine, there was once a merry widow. Her husband's epitaph stated: "Sacred to the memory of Jared Bates, who died Aug. 6, 1800; His widow, aged 24, lives at 7 Elm St. possesses every qualification for a good wife. There is an ironic note in another at Machias Cemetery, Maine: "Tears cannot restore her, Therefore do I weep."

In Tombstone, Arizona, where the cemetery smart alecks originated, there is one that says: "Here Lies Lester Moore; four slugs from a 44. No Les, No Moore." The whole story is in two lines at Greenwich, Mass.: "It was a cough that carried him off; it was a coffin they carried him off in."

And sharp wit is on a stone in Lee County, Mississippi: "Once I wasn't. Then I was. Now I ain't again." A tightwad expired in Norwich, England, and the family buried him in St. Giles, with this inscription: "We fancy now he'd wish to live again; Could he but know what the funeral cost."

A second one from Ruidoso, N.M. reads: "Here lies John Yeast; pardon me for not rising." Uniontown, Pa. has one which is applicable now: "Here lies the body of Jonathan Blake. Stepped on the gas instead of the brake." No name is on the one in Sheffield, England, which states: "I started out in life with the idea that the world had an opening for me." In capital letters underneath, it states: "It did." Some Scot in Perthshire wrote: "Here lies John Knott; His Father was Knott before him; He was Knott baptised; Knott begot; But here he lies and still is Knott."

Another in Storrington reads: "Here lies my poor wife. Without bed or blanket. But dead as a doornail. Heaven be thanked." In Glasgow, you can tell which of the lovers died second: "Here beneath this stone we lie; Back to back my wife and I; And when the angels Trump shall Trill; If she gets up, Then I'll lie still."

The best, in my opinion, is at Enfield, Mass. "To follow you I am not content; How do I know which way you went?"

Holds Up Audits

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state comptroller's office plans to withhold audit reports on local governments until after the election to prevent use of the documents as "campaign material."

Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat, seeking reelection, said Tuesday the decision followed a procedure in effect since the 1940s.

An aide said that the reports often contained critical comments and that Levitt's office would not want them to be used by one political party or another.

TAP Project Is Started at Area Crafts Studios

The Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center's Fall Talented Art Program (TAP) was initiated at five craftsmen's studios recently.

This fall's program is the third part of a Title III Planned-Pilot Project funded by the U. S. Department of Education under the Elementary - Secondary Education Act of 1965 to the Ulster County BOCES who is the legal applicant for the region.

Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, regional director and J. Terry Carlisle have enlarged the program to include two sub-regional centers for the current program. There are craft studio centers in Woodstock, and two additional studios at Rock Tavern. In Woodstock, Donald Jennings will instruct in ceramics, Miss Marie Frey in metalwork and jewelry, and Mrs. Iona Plath Alan in weaving. At the Rock Tavern Craft Studios, Ronald Burks will instruct in ceramics and Mrs. Linda Nadas of the Nadas School of Fine Arts will instruct in both sculpture and printmaking.

This innovative program is the only exclusively talented student craft program in the country. The program analysis division of the Department of Health Education and Welfare, Office of Education has selected the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center's TAP as a "Pacesetter" in its Title III program.

Aims Are Listed

The Region, aware of this commendation, responded overwhelmingly to the fall program. The Regional Center could only accommodate 60 students from the nearly 200 applications for this workshop. However, many of the applicants will be considered for the spring 1967 Craft Workshops. During both the fall 1966 and the spring 1967 the MHRSEC TAP will continue the educational and cultural goals set forth by the approved and funded project.

To identify students at any grade level that are talented in the crafts.

To develop with teachers, guidance personnel and gifted craftsmen an "awareness" for identifying and motivating the craft-talented student.

To individualize a program for talented students in the educational and cultural goals set forth by the approved and funded project.

To develop pilot in school, school-community galleries for crafts which would involve the general public in developing an "awareness" to individual crafts.

Killed by Truck

SCHROON LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Harold E. Venner, 43, of this Adirondack Mountain community, was killed Tuesday when a dump truck ran over him as he walked along an unfinished section of Interstate 87, the Northway.

Venner was a construction worker on the highway project.

RPI Raises Tuition

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Tuition at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute will raise to $2,050 a year, beginning next September, in a $250 increase over present cost.

The college also announced Tuesday that it would increase graduate student fees from $55 to $60 a credit hour, beginning September 1967.

NOW CARS

The NOW Cars. More than just "new" cars. The Now Cars are designed from scratch for today's driving by today's drivers. They are cars on top of today, from a company on top of today: The 1967 American Motors. 1967 is the year we've been planning for, pointing toward. The year we bring you cars full of today's spirit, bursting with today's ideas. Cars with more room, more power, more safety; cars more exciting than any we've ever built! The Now Cars.

Engines for Now. Three sixes that go like eights — and four V-8s that weren't here a year ago. The most modern engines in the industry, from an acceleration champ Six to the 343 cu. in. 4-bbl. Typhoon V-8.

Innovations for Now. Convertibles that are true six-seaters. Wink lights visible from the side and rally lights that herald your approach. A road-smoothing 4-link rear suspension — the first time ever with a single-unit body — to tame back-country roads.

Safety for Now. Every car from the 1967 American Motors includes: the long-awaited energy-absorbing steering column and deep-dish wheel; warning signal light to monitor both brake line systems; shoulder belt anchor plates; and the Double-Safety braking system we made standard five-years before the rest of the industry. All built into solid, single-unit bodies.

Quality for Now. Our past is one of quality. Quality built in — like the Deep-Dip rustproofing and Ceramic-Armored exhaust systems pioneered by American Motors. And when quality is built in, the value stays in.

See your American Motors/Rambler Dealer today. He's the only Now Car dealer in town.

And now — this great new warranty.

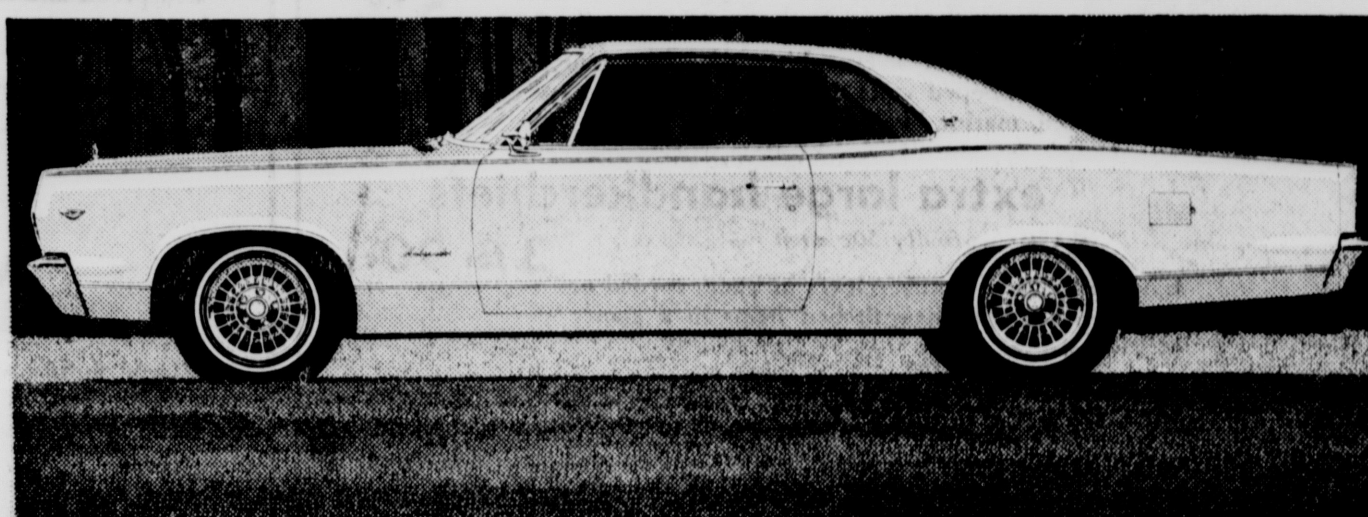

In addition to 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire automobile. American Motors Corporation warrants the engine block, head and internal parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and internal parts (except manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle, differential and rear wheel bearings of its 1967 cars to be free from defects in material or workmanship for 3 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first. The owner must change the engine oil and install new oil filter every six (6) months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, clean oil filter cap (filtered type) and carburetor air cleaner element every 4,000 miles and replace it every 24,000 miles, and furnish evidence of this service to an Authorized American Motors Dealer every six (6) months and have him certify its receipt and the car's mileage. Further, American Motors Corporation warrants the remainder of the car for 2 years or 24,000 miles, whichever comes first, except tires (warranted by tire manufacturer). Any part so defective, will be repaired or replaced, in accordance with the applicable portion of the warranty, without charge at an Authorized American Motors Dealership. Owners are responsible for deterioration, misuse and normal maintenance.

5/50,000
ON THE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN

Quality built in — so the value stays in.

REBEL Now, the first Excitement Machines in the intermediate class! A choice of five engines, topped by a 343 cu. in. Typhoon V-8. A wide road stance and 4-link rear suspension to glue down corners, untwist curves. An SST convertible (above) that seats 3 in back comfortably. Rebel: SST hardtop and SST convertible; 770 hardtop, sedan, wagon; 550 sedans, wagon.

AMBASSADOR Now, full-size luxury cars created for today, priced for the young man who wants his luxury car right now. 118" wheelbase. Interiors now as spacious as the most expensive full-size cars. Choice of five smooth, silent engines to command. Your choice of luxury: Ambassador DPL hardtop (above) and DPL convertible; 990 hardtop, sedan, wagon; 880 sedans and wagon.

RAMBLER AMERICAN Now, Typhoon V-8 thunder comes to the low-priced economy champs. Two Typhoon V-8s; 3 big sixes. America's only complete line of compacts. Nine models, including the Rogue hardtop shown above.

Dorplan Area to Have

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A state school for up to 1,000 mentally retarded children will be built in Schenectady County to serve a six-county area. Gov. Rockefeller announced the selection Tuesday, on the eve of a campaign visit to Schenectady, but said the exact site has not been chosen.

Rockefeller said the current state budget includes a $20 million appropriation to build the school, expected to be completed by late 1971.

It will serve Albany, Schenectady, Rensselaer, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie counties.

A total of 68 players on National Football League rosters in the 1965 season were from Texas.

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. FASTTEETH is alkaline — does not sour. Checks "denture breath." Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTTEETH at all drug counters.

Will Visit City Thursday During 3-County Swing

As part of a three-county campaign swing through Ulster, Dutchess and Orange Counties, Mrs. Frank D. O'Connor will stop off for a visit in Kingston this Thursday. Mrs. O'Connor, wife of the Democratic candidate for governor of New York State, is expected to do her distaff campaigning in this city from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. in the Central Broadway area.

Accompanied by Aaron E. Klein, Ulster County Democratic Committee Chairman, and Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan, Mrs. O'Connor will meet and greet voters near the Kingston Post Office and the Trailways bus terminal. Also on hand will be the heads of all Democratic women's organizations locally.

Mrs. O'Connor, whose husband and his running mate, Howard L. Samuels, are expected in Kingston within the next few weeks, is a native of Pennsylvania. She and her husband, president of the City Council of New York City, now reside at Jamaica Estates. Their eldest son is a pre-med student and they are also the parents of 17-year-old twin sons, now attending separate colleges in the state.

A charming and literate woman, Mrs. O'Connor is a registered nurse and has had experience in public health nursing with the New York City Department of Health as a supervisor. She has also served as a consultant for the Department of Health. She is a member of a great many civic and philanthropic organizations, including the New York Lighthouse Board of Directors, Queens Botanical Gardens Association and the Elmhurst-Jackson Heights Day Center for Older Persons Board of Directors, among others.

Her three-county tour will begin Thursday at 7:30 a. m. in Dutchess County and she should reach Kingston shortly before noon.

Administrators Meet

At last Thursday's initial meeting of the Ulster County School Administrators' Association, held at Rubin's Maple View Hotel in Kerhonkson, plans for the next two meetings were formulated. Chairman Sherman Wilbur said this week. The October meeting, which will be hosted by Onteora, will discuss state educational legislation, including bills pending and ways of implementing bills already passed. The November meeting, to be held in Saugerties, will take up juvenile problems.

Would Boost Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government insurance would cover bank and savings and loan accounts up to $20,000, instead of $10,000 as at present, under a measure approved by the House and sent to the Senate.

The House voted Tuesday to include such a provision in a bank regulation bill already passed by the Senate.

Rats to Blame

CHANDIGARH, India (AP) — Punjab state irrigation engineers said rats were to blame for destructive floods in the area this summer. They said rats had made holes in dikes and when high water came the weakened dikes quickly gave way.

Running for Reelection

Plan Big Money Attack to Beat Lone Texas GOP

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — With the prestige of President Johnson and Gov. John B. Connally at stake, Texas Democrats are setting a multimillion-dollar ambush for the state's lone Republican in Congress, U.S. Sen. John G. Tower.

And with just as much effort, and money, Republicans are trying to make Tower's campaign for a second term into a vehicle for regaining ground they lost in the 1964 election.

Status Complicated

The situation is complicated by the fact that both Tower and his Democratic opponent, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, are conservatives. Carr faces the very real possibility of a boycott of the polls by liberal Democrats who have been feuding with the party's dominant conservative faction for a decade.

Tower, 41, a former college professor, and Carr, 46, have accused each other of spending around $2 million in an attempt to buy the election.

The campaign is a definite crisis for Texas Republicans. Two years ago, when native son Lyndon B. Johnson trounced Barry Goldwater, he swept most Texas Democratic candidates into office with him. Two Republican congressmen went down in defeat. What had been a growing group of GOP state legislators shrank from 11 to 1 representative in the 150-member House.

Political Slap

Connally, who teams with Johnson on Texas campaign maneuvers, said recently reelection of Tower would be a political slap in the face for both the President and the governor. It would help the Republicans, and it would give strength to liberal Democrats, he said.

Most observers agree that Tower, from his favorable position as the incumbent, got off to a better campaign start.

However, Democrats claim Carr's chances have increased daily since he got unqualified backing of Johnson and Connally, the undisputed top political powers in a state that has been predominantly Democratic since the Civil War.

Carr also claims full support of the 23 Democratic members of Congress and of former Govs. Allan Shivers and Price Daniel. Shivers, who led state party machinery to support Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower for president in 1952 and 1956, has aided some statewide GOP candidates in the past.

Tower has full backing of his party leaders, both state and national, plus considerable support from well-heeled business groups who believe the Democratic party has grown too liberal.

Leon Fitzgerald Commended in Scholarship Plan

Leon Fitzgerald, a senior at Rondout Valley Central High School, has been named one of 3,000 Commended Scholars in the Third National Achievement Scholarship Program for outstanding Negro students, it was announced this week by James W. Davis, Rondout Valley School principal.

The list of 3,000 was selected from 30,000 students under original consideration. Of those commended, a final list of 1,000 will be published on November 16. From these finalists, approximately 250 will be awarded four-year scholarships of at least $1,000 which may be increased to as much as $6,000 depending on individual need.

Leon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fitzgerald of Lamontville. His father is a member of the Kingston Police Department. He is hopeful of entering upon a pre-medical course of study. A special examination, required of all Commended Candidates, was administered to Leon last week at Rondout High School. The NACP is conducted by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

RV High School's Activities Noted

Rondout Valley Central High School's Student Council opened its activities this fall with a successful get-together dance and inaugurated a new sales project, selling school jackets. This marks the first time jackets have been sold at Rondout.

The Council is now engaged in planning the second Bonfire-Pep Rally, which will be held on Thursday evening, Oct. 20. The Thursday date was selected because there will be no regular school session on Friday, Oct. 21, due to the Southeastern Zone Teachers' Conference on that date.

Student Council officers for 1966-67 are: President, Paul Parisi; Vice-President, Peggy Christiansa; Treasurer, Yong Churchwell; Secretary, Barbara Bushnell.

Could Hide Arrests

Cites Dangers of Pretrial News Ban Idea by Bar Group

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — William B. Dickinson, president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association, says that the American Bar Association study groups suggested restrictions on pretrial news coverage "could be used to cover up secret arrests, and, indeed, secret trials."

Dickinson, managing editor of the Philadelphia Bulletin, said Tuesday the proposed code of silence for judges and lawyers "would deny the public information regarding crimes to which it is entitled, and which it must have."

Statement Approved

He added that members of the APME Executive Committee had approved the statement.

A bar association study group of 10 prominent judges and lawyers recommended the code of silence after a 20-month study. The code would forbid law enforcement officers or lawyers to disclose, among other things, whether defendants in criminal cases had police records or had confessed.

The bar association proposals were criticized Tuesday by Robert C. Notson and J. Edward Murray of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and D. Tennant Bryan, chairman of the Committee on Free Press and Fair Trial of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

In his statement, Dickinson said:

Only 46 PC Belong

"A committee of the American Bar Association, of which only 46 per cent of the nation's lawyers are members, has published a report making specific recommendations which it believes would, if adopted, insure fair trials for persons accused of crimes. The report proposed that a 'rule be promulgated in each jurisdiction by the appropriate court which would, among other things:

"1. Forbid police and other law enforcement officers, from the time of arrest of an alleged criminal until completion of his trial, to give any information regarding, not only his prior criminal record, if any, but also his entire prior history;

"2. Forbid any revelation as to whether the accused has made any statement, either admitting guilt or asserting innocence; and

Forbids Report

"3. Forbid any report of the results of examinations or tests of the accused person, or of the agreement or refusal of the accused to undergo such tests."

"The Associated Press Managing Editors Association does not question the right of lawyers to establish standards for lawyers, although the bar has not always been quick to disbar or censure those of its members who have failed to conform to existing codes of ethics. It is a far different matter, however, for a minority of the nation's lawyers to take it upon themselves to propose rules for police and other law enforcement officers who are paid by the public.

"These suggested rules, if promulgated as proposed without any prior public approval, would deny the public information regarding crimes to which it is entitled, and which it must have."

"In instances where the police or other law enforcement authorities are corrupt, these rules could be used to cover up secret arrests and, indeed, secret trials, since the lawyers also wish to tar the public from preliminary hearings and from any portions of trials which do not take place in the presence of the jury."

Gets Beame Support*O'Connor Reveals His '65 Action in Mayoralty Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank D. O'Connor, Democratic candidate for governor, has given his first public explanation of how he stepped aside for Abraham D. Beame to seek the Democratic nomination for mayor last year.

O'Connor volunteered the story Tuesday after a news conference at which Beame endorsed his gubernatorial candidacy.

Ask of Agreement

A newsman asked if there was any agreement last year about support for O'Connor for governor this year.

"Nonsense," O'Connor replied.

"Absolutely false," said Beame.

Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. has charged that O'Connor's yielding to Beame for mayor was part of a "deal" arranged by democratic "bosses" under which O'Connor would get support for governor this year. Roosevelt has said the arrangements were made at a meeting at the home of former Rep. Charles A. Buckley, Bronx Democratic leader. All those who Roosevelt said were at such a meeting have denied any "deal" was made.

Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, running for re-election, has called O'Connor the candidate of the democratic bosses.

Met at Airport

O'Connor said Tuesday that his yielding to Beame developed after they met at Kennedy Airport and — seeking seclusion — talked in the middle of a deserted airport parking lot, sticking out "like a sore thumb" in full view of thousands of passing motorists. At that time, Beame was city comptroller and O'Connor was Queens district attorney.

O'Connor related the story, he strolled over to Beame and — as the meeting to him, Beame smiled and nodded, and said he remembered it.

O'Connor said he and Beame met a couple more times, and then he agreed to pull out as a candidate for mayor and run for city council president on a Beame-for-mayor ticket. Both won nomination. O'Connor won in the general election, but Beame lost.

Who were at the meetings of O'Connor and Beame?

"My wife once," said Beame. "Otherwise, just Frank and me."

Were there any bosses, a newsman asked.

Wife Is Boss

"Just my wife," said Beame. O'Connor said he was reminded of the airport meeting while campaigning earlier Tuesday because he had walked into the International Hotel at Kennedy Airport through the same side door he had used in the meeting with Beame.

O'Connor commented that if both had stayed in the race, it would have split the party.

"Besides," O'Connor said, "Abe was older. He said that he was better known within the city. And, as city comptroller, he said he had more knowledge of fiscal affairs. And he had."

More than 200 leaders of reform Democratic organizations in New York City met with O'Connor Tuesday night and promised to work for his election.

Local 2601 of the United Steelworkers Union, which claims to represent 4,000 employees of the Bethlehem Steel Co. in Lackawanna near Buffalo, announced Tuesday that it was backing O'Connor.

The union's statewide legislative and political education committee announced last Friday it was backing Rockefeller.

Will Lock Up Jury Until Trial Ends

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — A federal jury trying five men, one an Upstate New Yorker, charged with interstate transportation of stolen trading stamps has been ordered locked up nights until the trial ends.

Judge Gerald J. Weber of U.S. District Court ordered the nightly confinements Tuesday after asking each juror whether information outside of that heard in court, was received about the case.

The jury of nine men and three women all denied receiving any outside information.

Weber also ordered that the jurors be prohibited from receiving news reports about the trial.

The order came after the government rested its case against the defendants, Ralph C. Hobbs, 49, Beaver Falls; George Lairs, 52, Ambridge; Joseph E. Morris, 49, San Francisco; Victor Battista, 37, East Orange, N.J.; and Gaetano Miceli, 37, Buffalo, N.Y.

The men were arrested May 12 and a portion of around 90 million trading stamps stolen from a Chicago warehouse was confiscated.

Lynda Bird, George Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson flew here Tuesday and spent about 15 minutes with actor George Hamilton who is on location for a film. Police said the President's eldest daughter sat with Hamilton and two Secret Service men in a limousine being used in the movie.

Will Supervise Phone Operators At Local Office

JOHN P. LEWIS

New York Telephone today announced the appointment of John P. Lewis of Monticello as superintendent of operator services in Kingston.

Lewis, who succeeds William J. Hourihan, will supervise a staff of about 100 telephone operators.

Born in New Haven, Conn., Lewis is a graduate of Bowdoin College and joined New York Telephone in Nassau County in 1959 as a staff assistant. He has served in various positions, including lineman, installer and dial service supervisor. He had been a traffic superintendent in Monticello since August 1965.

Lewis is cabinet secretary-treasurer of Lions International district 20-0 and has been serving on the official board of the Monticello Methodist Church. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and their three children plan to move to the Kingston area soon.

Due Voters: Fish

Thinks Resnick Owes Apology on Savings Attitude

POUGHKEEPSIE — Hamilton Fish Jr., candidate for Congress, said today he felt the voters of the 28th District deserved an "explanation and an apology" from Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, on his peculiarly callous attitude toward those who invest their life savings in the stock market.

The Republican candidate was referring to a statement by the Democrat incumbent made at Kingston's Temple Emanuel debate Monday night that "when he gambled he went to Las Vegas."

"The incumbent's admission that he did not know anything about Social Security, and that he was ignorant of the basic principles of economics was bad enough," Fish said. "But his statement that in his opinion the activity of the stock market was not related to the economy was nothing short of shocking."

Fish who was campaigning in Greene County after the Kingston debate, made the statement at a Republican rally in the Town of Durham.

"When asked about the stock market, our Congressman said that when he wanted to gamble he went to Las Vegas. I believe he showed a peculiar contempt for over 20 million Americans who invest their savings in the future of the business of this country."

"Not only is this nation's investment banking closely connected to the action of the stock market, but it is one of the basic barometers of the economy. To tell people who are investing in stocks and bonds in an attempt to secure their old age that they should go to Las Vegas and shoot dice I believe shows a callousness toward the hardship of others that is difficult to understand."

"It is my feeling Mr. Resnick owes the people of this district an explanation for his statement, and an apology," Fish concluded.

Journey Over For Black Bear, Shot in Colonie

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The bear went over the mountain—a number of them in fact—and apparently swam the Hudson River twice, only to end up shot by a dog warden.

The 300-pound black bear was killed Tuesday in nearby Colonie in the course of what appeared to be a journey from the Catskills to its Adirondack Mountain home from which it was taken some months ago.

The animal was shot by Alex Garceau at the close of a 36-hour chase of the lumbering but elusive animal through several suburban communities.

Garceau said he fired when the bear "appeared ready to charge onto" the Northway, a superhighway leading to the Adirondacks.

The animal initially was spotted over the weekend by several residents in East Greenbush, across the Hudson River.

The hunt continued without success Monday. On Tuesday, however, Mrs. Edward Morenberg of Colonie reported seeing the bear, saying:

"It isn't often a big-city girl sees a bear."

The Conservation Department had hoped to shoot the animal with tranquilizer pellets but did not reach the scene in time.

Officials said they believed the bear was enroute to his native habitat near Long Lake in northern Hamilton County. He had been relocated from there to the wilds of Greene County in the Catskills by the Conservation Department.

Left alone, officials theorized, the bear could well have meandered the remaining 90 miles, measured in a straight line, and holed up, well, before the onslaught of winter.

The bear's carcass was removed to the department's research lab in Delmar, an Albany suburb.

Identifying Race Horses

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The distinctive colors worn by jockeys in horse racing serve a purpose. You can't tell one horse from another on the far side of the track, but you can identify them by the jockey's colors.

Joel Chandler Harris, noted composer, called his home the Wren's Nest because a wren once made its nest in the mailbox. Harris built another box rather than disturb the bird.

Play of Hearts Adds to Tricks

By Oswald & James Jacoby
News Enterprise Assn.

Oswald asks Jim what he thinks is the principal difference between rubber bridge and duplicate play.

Jim: "You already know the answer. At duplicate you go after extra tricks. At rubber bridge you are far more concerned with the safety of the contract."

Oswald: "Here is a hand played recently by Bobby Wolff of San Antonio. I can't say that I approve of his opening bid of one no-trump with five hearts, four diamonds and two suits un-stopped but there was nothing wrong with the final contract of three no-trump. West opened the jack of diamonds. Bobby won in his own hand and counted five hearts, three diamonds and a club provided that the hearts behaved properly for him. Then he studied awhile, led back a diamond and finessed dummy's nine spot."

Jim: "That was strictly a duplicate play. At rubber bridge Bobby would have been happy to go after his nine tricks by running off hearts right away. In duplicate Bobby wanted four no-trump in order to be sure to outscore anyone who bid and made four hearts."

Oswald: "Right. It is important to note that careless play might have cost Bobby his contract later on. When the nine of diamonds held Bobby's next play was to lead the ten of hearts, not the five, to his king. Then he returned to dummy with the queen of hearts, cashed the ace of diamonds, led the five of hearts, finessed his nine after East followed low and made his four no-trump for a top score."

Jim: "An automatic play for a player of Bobby's caliber. Experts just don't trap themselves by playing the wrong low card."

Oppose Lakes Compact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York State Power Authority opposes Congressional approval of a Great Lakes basin compact because it could impose "an impossible condition."

James A. Fitzpatrick, authority chairman, told the House Foreign Affairs Committee Tuesday that his organization was not opposed to the compact but was against the entry of the federal government into the area.

The present Great Lakes compact among eight states and without the federal government has worked effectively for 11 years, Fitzpatrick said.

"If we must have the consent of Congress, then it is implied that what we have done in the past is illegal," he said.

The gravity of the situation, he said, is pointed up by the fact that the authority represents a $1.1-billion investment in power installations.

He said the entry of the federal government could hamper the state authority's ability to deal with its Canadian colleagues.

More chrysanthemums are produced around Redwood City, Calif., than in any other region in the United States.

The bounty was placed on the starfish after they destroyed more than 22,000 bushels of transplanted quahogs, an edible clam, in Narragansett Bay last year.

Ask Religious Asylum

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Brigham Young asked Kentucky Governor William Owsley in 1845 to call a special session of the Legislature to grant the Mormons religious asylum. Owsley apparently didn't reply to Young's letter and the Mormons moved from their Nauvoo, Ill., settlement to Utah.

Controversial Topics House Launches Debate Today on Education Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration's $5.7-billion school bill comes up for action in the House today at the height of a blazing controversy over the pace of school desegregation.

Although the issue is not dealt with in the bill, it is expected to furnish much of the fuel for debate, which could spill over into Thursday.

Approval Expected

The bill would authorize spending at an increased rate for the next two years on the elementary and secondary school programs enacted last year by Congress in one of President Johnson's major legislative victories.

Approval of the higher spending levels is expected, but not until there has been much talk of busing of school children, de facto segregation and racially imbalanced schools.

These controversial topics have been brought to the fore by Southerners and some Northerners angered at what they regard as too vigorous pushing of school integration by Harold Howe II, commissioner of education.

Howe is charged with responsibility under the 1964 civil rights act for cutting off federal funds for schools that continue to discriminate against Negroes. Of 2,000 school districts in the south, 70 have had funds withheld.

Although it is the Civil Rights Act provision that has Southerners aroused, they are expected to seek amendments to the school bill that would prohibit the use of any federal funds for busing students or correcting racial imbalance.

Over Johnson's Request

Howe, appearing before the rules committee Tuesday in his investigation of the desegregation guidelines being followed by the Office of Education, said some communities are using elementary and secondary school act funds for experimental bus programs. But the projects are locally drawn and approved, he said.

The bill would authorize spending for schools at the rate of $2.1 billion this fiscal year and $3.6 billion the following year. Last year's expenditures ran about $1.6 billion. The cost for the current fiscal year is about $500 million more than Johnson requested.

Phinney Denies Getting Report On Jail Condition

Robert F. Phinney, (R), 11th Ward supervisor and former chairman of the Board of Supervisors, today informed The Freeman that he was unaware of any communication from the State Correction Department last May in regard to facilities at Ulster County Jail.

The State Department of Correction has threatened to bring proceedings to condemn and close the jail unless action is taken either to correct facilities there or erect a new jail.

Supervisor Phinney, who was erroneously referred to as the "Fifth" Ward supervisor, has served the 11th Ward for many years.

In a communication Mr. Phinney says that the communication last May, addressed to him, should have been addressed to the present chairman, Charles Belyea (R), Hurley.

"Until reading the paper last night, I was unaware of any such communication as it was never forwarded to me and I have never heard of any action in regard to it. To my knowledge, the committee has never made a report to the body as a whole upon it," Supervisor Phinney said.

Aver Trial

S30 qyyzyzyzcze 1220p mr 5 from the Dallas City Jail to the Dallas County Jail.

The court's order by presiding Judge W.A. Morrison said that the reversal on grounds of the inadmissible testimony made it unnecessary to discuss in detail "the error of the court in failing to grant (Ruby's) change in venue."

In Dallas, Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, who led prosecution in the Ruby trial, said, "We don't think there was an error. We will file a motion for rehearing in that court down there (the Court of Criminal Appeals) within two weeks and hope to get them to change their opinion. This is not final yet."

Asked what role he would play in prosecution of the trial moves to a new county, Wade replied, "It will depend on where it's moved. Wherever it's moved, it depends on the attorney there. If he needs us to help him, we will, of course."

ment aid in developing local programs. Those that have been invited hold key positions on the Ulster County Board of Supervisors with regard to policy, budget, public health and mental health planning. Also included will be Dr. Emeline P. Hayward, director of mental health services in Ulster County.

Prior to the meeting, Dr. Pleasure will meet at dinner with members of the Association's Executive Committee.

S'gn Demolition Contract for UR

Eric Hemphill, executive director of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, today reported the signing of a contract with William M. Young & Co. Inc., of Newark, N. J., for demolition of some 300 structures in downtown Kingston's Broadway East urban renewal project area.

Demolition will include sheds and other outbuildings as well as homes and commercial structures. It will not be concentrated on a single site, but will be throughout the area. Young's bid was $234,000.

Young was the contractor for a first demolition in this area earlier this year for construction of a housing project. In clearing the area 79 structures were razed.

Allies Push . . .

bodian border 120 miles south were training, resupply and base camp areas of the Viet west of Saigon. Their targets Cong in flood-swept Chau Doc province.

U.S. pilots flew 125 bombing missions against North Viet Nam Tuesday and lost one plane, the U.S. Command announced. A Navy A-1 Skyhawk was shot down, the 392nd U.S. loss reported in the war over the north. The pilot is missing.

U.S. pilots aimed most of their strikes against Communist water traffic and storage buildings. They reported destroying or damaging 75 barges, junks and ferries and more than 50 buildings in staging and storage areas.

Flew 393 Sorties U.S. pilots flew 393 sorties against Viet Cong targets in South Viet Nam Tuesday and claimed they destroyed or damaged 263 huts, structures, bunkers and fortified positions and 10 sampans. South Vietnamese pilots flew 169 combat sorties.

Operation Irving on the central coast appeared to be developing into one of the most successful allied campaigns of the war. The size of the enemy force was unknown, but one report said it included elements of North Viet Nam's 610th Division.

Allied casualties were reported light. As the ground troops drew in closer on the foe in the coastal mountains and lowlands, U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats kept up a constant watch along the coast to block any attempt of the beleaguered Communists to escape.

The average ratio in the Viet Nam war has been 5 or 6 enemy killed for every one captured, but in Operation Irving it has been less than 2 to 1.

The U.S. cavalrymen reported killing 35 Communists Tuesday in a five-hour battle 25 miles northwest of Qui Nhon. The fighting broke out in a man-grove swamp after enemy gun-fire downed a U.S. observation helicopter, the fourth lost since the operation began. The pilot of the helicopter was injured but his observer escaped unhurt.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, 10 American servicemen were killed and 20 others injured in the crash Tuesday of a U.S. Army transport plane at An Khe, the cavalry headquarters 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

A military spokesman said the two-engine plane, carrying 32 persons, crashed into a mountain while making a landing approach in foggy weather. Some of the casualties were wounded servicemen who were being evacuated.

Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marine Forces in Viet Nam, was killed in the head by a sliver of aluminum Tuesday when an enemy bullet hit his helicopter during a flight to inspect the Marine battle-ground just below the demilitarized zone.

The general, 53, "didn't even ask for a handout," a spokesman said. He completed his inspection and flew on to Saigon for a conference.

American troop strength in South Viet Nam passed 321,000 today with the arrival of another brigade of the U.S. 4th Infantry Division at Nha Trang, on the central coast.

The force of about 4,000 soldiers began disembarking from the transport General Gordon and were being flown to the division's headquarters at Pleiku.

Say North

edly feels only some dramatic American gesture can convince Hanoi of American good faith.

The French consider published American statements are deliberately unclear on how, when and under what conditions U.S. forces might be withdrawn from Viet Nam.

The French, for example, want to know if U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg's statement on Sept. 22 calling for a phased withdrawal of "all external forces" means only North Vietnamese army regulars or does it also include the thousands of northern-born Vietnamese who have crossed into the south in recent years and are fighting with the Viet Cong.

Hurt as Car Hits Tree

While driving her car south on Ulster Landing Road, Town of Ulster, at 3:45 a. m. today, Margaret Kelly, 58, RD 4, Box 142, Saugerties, was injured when the vehicle hit a tree stump and overturned. She was taken to Kingston Hospital suffering a broken shoulder and other injuries. According to State Police Sergeant Donald Paulsen of the Kingston substation, the vehicle went off the west side of the road and over a turned coming to a stop on its top.

Continue Probe Of Ertel Job, Downtown House

Local police today continued probe of a safe-cracking at the Ertel Engineering Corp., 8 North Front Street in which $160 was taken, and of a downtown house burglary.

Police found no signs of forced entrance to the Ertel building, but at 8:30 p. m. an employee of the company reported that someone was in the building.

Lt. Lemuel Howard, detectives Harold DeGraff, William Slover, Floyd Krom and Albert Hutton, with officers George Dougherty, Joseph Ferrara, Gerald Tierney, and Ira Haddad, went to the building and searched all areas, but whoever was inside apparently got away before the police arrived.

Another report last night noted the theft of a guitar and a record player stolen from the home of Mrs. Anna Speedling of 48 East Union Street. Entrance was gained through a screened window.

Two Are Charged In Burglary of Bellaire Villa

Apprehended after a high-speed chase along Town of New Palitz highways early today, two Highland youths were taken into custody on charges of burglary third degree by Troopers J. F. Czaplinski and Jerry Henne.

BCI Investigator Joseph Franke identified the accused pair as Donald Rydell, 21, and John Howe, 16, both of Highland. They are charged with burglarizing the Bellaire Villa Inc., on North Oliveville Road, New Palitz.

According to Franke, Troopers Czaplinski and Henne spotted a car traveling at a high speed and they pursued it until they apprehended the occupants identified as Rydell and Howe.

Troopers said they found several cases of beer, a quantity of whiskey, cigarettes and other items in the vehicle.

Rydell and Howe were taken to the Highland State Police station and questioned. The burglary charges were lodged and both youths were taken before Justice of the Peace, Rexford Schneider, Town of New Palitz.

The arrests were made after 3 a. m. troopers said. Authorities reported the loot, including some cash totalled about $150.

Karpel Will Head Library Week Event

Leon Karpel, director of Mid-Hudson Libraries has been appointed executive director of National Library Week of New York State. It was made known today by Dr. Richard H. Lodgson, president of the New York Library Association.

Karpel will be responsible for the organization and coordination of a statewide committee with representatives from all walks of life to assist in the year-round program scheduled for kickoff April 21-27.

Karpel stated, in accepting the appointment, that he would make every effort to fulfill the goals expressed by Lieutenant Governor Malcolm Wilson Saturday at dedication ceremonies at the new Mid-Hudson Libraries building in Poughkeepsie.

Wilson, in delivering the principal address at the event, stated that New York State had set the pattern for modern concepts of library services now being adopted nationwide.

Prior to his appointment as director of Mid-Hudson Libraries in June 1962, Karpel was assistant college librarian at the State University of New Palitz. He also is current president of the Southeastern New York Library Resources Council representing all-inclusive types of libraries in eight counties including Columbia, Dutchess, Putnam, Greene, Ulster, Orange, Rockland and Sullivan.

Cyclists, Others Charged

Drivers charged with making unnecessary noise with motorcycles were fined in city court today. Jan Vel, 19, of 195 Main Street, charged as a second offender, was fined $40. Hoyt R. Adickes, 18, of 118 Esopus Avenue, was fined $20 and John Dimuccio, 23, of Columbia Gardens, paid $3. Richard Nardone, 19, of 16 Josephine Avenue, charged with following too closely, was fined $10, and fined $5 each were David Hoffman, 26, of Rolling Meadows, charged with driving with inadequate signals, and Joan Hoffbauer, 19, of Bloomington, charged with driving with unsafe tires.

Charge Dismissed

A third degree assault charge against Bernard Johnston, 29, of Hillcrest Gardens, was dismissed in city court today. It had been lodged by Ella McCulloch, of Andrew Street, who did not appear against the defendant today.

Bill May . . .

has passed the House and been approved by the Senate committee. Funds to finance it cannot be included in the final money bill until the education bill becomes law.

Senate and House leaders are expected to huddle next week to survey the situation. If the outlook for adjournment by Oct. 22 is bleak — unless major legislation is passed — they may reluctantly decide on a pre-election recess and a return to work late in November.

Reports Car Stolen

Mrs. Douglas Freer of 114 Tinker Street, Woodstock, notified the sheriff's department Tuesday that her 1960 Valiant car, license UC-9066, had been taken Monday from the West Hurley School.

Two Negligence Hearings Held

Trial of two negligence actions arising out of a three-car collision April 26, 1964, on Route 28, near the intersection of Route 375 and Pine Street, West Hurley, was taken up before Justice Harry E. Schirick and a jury today in Supreme Court.

Margaret Bartholmess, driver of one of the cars en route to Shokan, brings an action against George F. Dickover and others. It is alleged the Dickover and Lucaccio cars were involved in a collision and the car operated by Mrs. Bartholmess then become involved.

Gaffney and Hill appear for Mrs. Bartholmess, Cook, Tucker and Dwyer and Donald M. McCann appear for Dickover and others in the first action. Albert Boyer and Ewig and Beck appear for Lucaccio and another in the second action.

On the stand Mrs. Bartholmess testified she was enroute to Shokan with her husband. She observed a car approaching some distance away. Next she saw a Volkswagen in her path. She testified the car came over into the path of her car after it had apparently been involved in a collision with a third car, which Mrs. Bartholmess testified had been forced from the road.

On trial before Justice Louis G. Bruhn is a contract action brought by Max Millens and others against Nick Valadich and another, Abraham Streifer appears for plaintiff and Michael Nardone and Harvey M. Lifset for defendants.

A jury has been selected for trial of two negligence actions. Edward E. Wyant and another against Emil L. Jensen Jr., and Frank Kouhout Jr., and others against Frederick J. Wenz and another. The actions arise out of automobile negligence. Norman Kellar appears for plaintiffs and Cook, Tucker and Dwyer for defendants.

Hoffa Conviction Upheld on Fraud Of Wire, Mails

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has lost an appeal of his 1964 conviction for mail and wire fraud and conspiracy.

The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals upheld Tuesday in a 2-1 decision, the convictions of Hoffa and six codefendants in connection with an alleged plot to defraud the Teamsters' pension fund of more than $1 million.

Hoffa's lawyers contended that the convictions were the result of "vicious publicity," prejudicial evidence and a running feud between Hoffa and Robert F. Kennedy, then U.S. attorney general.

In their majority decision, Judges F. Ryan Duffy and Latham M. Castle held that "each claim of error has been carefully considered and all such claims of error are hereby denied."

Hoffa was convicted by a jury and sentenced Aug. 18, 1964, to five years in prison by U.S. District Judge Richard J. Austin. He also was fined $10,000. The other defendants were sentenced to lesser terms and fined $5,000.

Judge Luther M. Swygert, in a dissenting opinion, held that the convictions should be reversed because of "trial errors."

Have 15 Days

Hoffa and the others have 15 days in which to file a petition for a rehearing by the appeals court.

The other defendants and their sentences are: Benjamin Dranow, five years; Calvin Kovens, Miami Beach, Fla., and Zachary A. Strafe Jr., three years each; S. George Burris, New York, 18 months; Samuel Hyman, a Florida real estate developer, a year and a day; and Abe I. Weinblatt, Miami Beach, one hour.

Find Musician Guilty In Narcotics Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jazz musician Chesney (Chet) Baker has been convicted of forging a narcotics prescription.

Sentencing was set Tuesday for Nov. 22.

Superior Court Judge Bernard Selber found the 36-year-old trumpet player guilty after Baker submitted his case on the transcript of the preliminary hearing.

Baker, who lives in Redondo Beach, Calif., was accused of forging a prescription for an opium derivative called llauid. Baker said he had not been able to get the drug since moving from New York. He said he used it to correct a facial twitch.

Re-Classify Hearses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee voted Tuesday to classify hearses as passenger cars for excise tax purposes. They now are taxed at the higher truck rate.

Average temperature for Texas is 67 degrees.

Rusk, U Thant to Meet

Look for Change Of Soviet Hard Line Viet Policy

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk sees U.N. Secretary-General U Thant today at a luncheon meeting that could provide a clue whether the Soviet Union has eased its hard line on Viet Nam.

Thant gave a luncheon Monday for Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and is believed to have sought Soviet views on the deadlocked efforts to bring the Viet Nam war to the conference table.

To Meet Gromyko Rusk, who is expected to confer with Gromyko late this week before the Soviet minister goes to Washington to see President Johnson, is taking soundings to find out whether there has been any change in the diplomatic climate on Viet Nam.

The American secretary is giving a dinner at the Waldorf tonight for Foreign Minister Corneliu Manescu of Romania, the Soviet bloc member which has maintained the friendliest relations with Red China since the quarrel erupted between Moscow and Peking.

There have been persistent reports in the past year that Romania might serve as an intermediary between the United States and North Viet Nam.

Rusk has had two meetings with Gromyko since the current session of the U.N. General Assembly opened Sept. 20, but there has been no word of progress on Viet Nam.

The United States has offered to stop bombing North Viet Nam if the North Vietnamese pledge to reduce or halt their military operations. It also called for a phased withdrawal of foreign forces on both sides.

The informants said Gromyko maintained the tough stand against U.S. policy in Viet Nam that he did in his policy speech to the General Assembly. In it he denounced the Americans as aggressors and called for their withdrawal from Viet Nam.

Peace Corpsman Freed by Soviets Is Flying Home

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — U.S. Peace Corpsman Thomas R. Dawson, held in Soviet custody for three weeks after he strayed across the Soviet-Iranian border while hunting sea shells, was flying home to the United States today.

The U.S. Embassy said Dawson, 24, left for Washington to report to the Peace Corps office and then visit his mother in Annapolis, Md.

Dawson was handed over to Iranian authorities Monday night at Astara, on the Caspian Sea, where he was seized Sept. 11 by Soviet border guards. Newsmen were not allowed to talk to him during his 24-hour stay in Tehran, apparently because the Iranian government did not want any repercussions from the Soviets.

Dawson told U.S. officials he felt fine and had been treated well by Soviet authorities.

In Washington, the State Department said no charges were placed against Dawson. The Soviets said they had to investigate the case to satisfy themselves that he had crossed the border innocently.

Kerhonkson Lions Names Essay Judges

Judges have been named for the Kerhonkson Lions Club Peace Essay Contest which is open to persons 14-22-year-old. The contest, sponsored by Lions Club International, offers a top award of $25,000 to the world winner in the form of educational and/or career assistance grants.

Sidney Chernick, Kerhonkson Lions Club president, said that James W. Davis, Rondout Valley Central School principal; Philip and Richard Terwilliger, a Kerhonkson businessman, have been named judges.

Rules and further details are available from Chernick or any member of the Kerhonkson Lions Club.

Funeral Set Thursday

CORNING, N.Y. (AP) — Funeral services will be held Thursday for William W. Sinclair, retired assistant secretary of the Corning Glass Works.

Sinclair, who was 66, died Monday at his ranch near Sedalia, Colo., where he had moved upon retiring from the firm in April, 1965.

Sinclair's grandfather, Henry P. Sinclair, was one of three founders of Corning Flint Glass Works, organized in 1868 and later renamed Corning Glass Works.

Survivors include his widow, Mary Catherine. Services will be at Christ Episcopal Church, Corning, with burial also in Corning.

Hunting Fatal

GREEN POINT, Pa. (AP) — A young man hunting deer with a bow and arrow died Tuesday when he fell from a tree, impaled himself on one of his arrows and bled to death, state police said.

Police said Robert L. Sholly, 25, Lebanon, Pa., was on a platform he had built in a tree when he dropped his quiver of arrows. While climbing down, he fell on the quiver and an arrow went into his thigh.

He walked a mile to his car and then drove for another mile but lost consciousness and died, police said.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The nice new red Johnny Appleseed stamps should be in the post offices by now as the first day of issue was Sept. 24. They are a very happy looking stamp. Perhaps someday the Post Office Department will come out with an Uncle Sam Stamp. It so happens that Uncle Sam or Samuel Wilson was born Sept. 13, 1766, exactly two hundred years ago. Johnny Appleseed's real name was John Chapman.

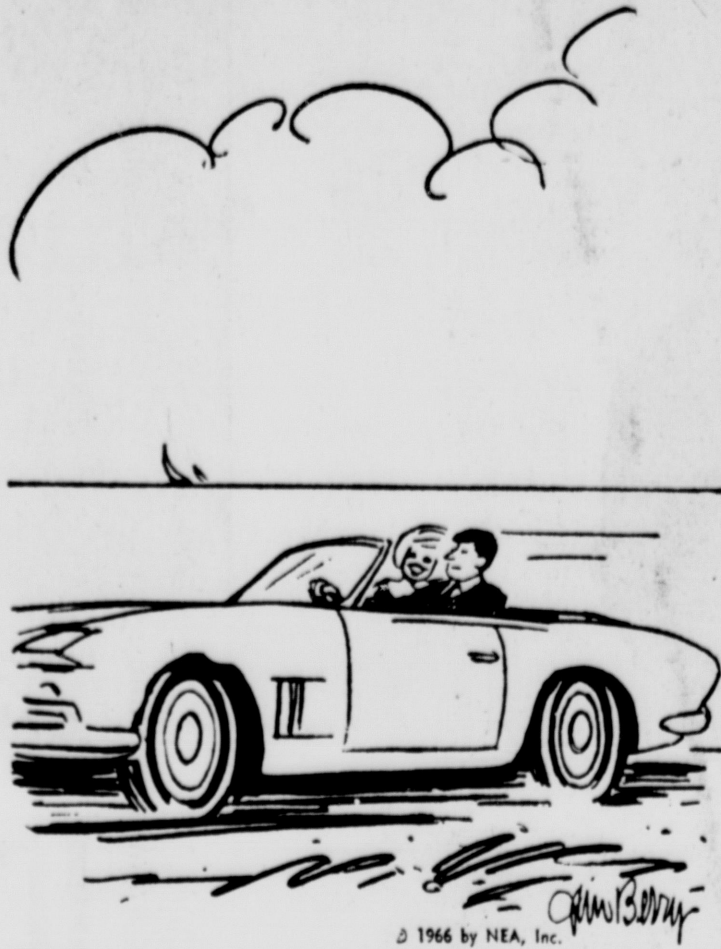

Those who wish to send for first day covers, or envelopes, Oct. 5, the five cent stamp will be cancelled for Beautification of America, Washington, D. C. 20013. Then the Wednesday after that, on Oct. 12, will be another new five cent stamp for the Great River Road, Baton Rouge, La. 70801. For those who have never tried this before, one takes a large No. 10 envelope on which the above address is written. Inside you place a small, regular envelope, with your own return address in the proper place. You enclose a nickel for each small envelope, and mail and seal the large addressed and stamped envelope. If done correctly you will receive First Day of Issue cancellation. For more details, compare pictures of it, and my old postal card which I assume is only early 1900, and even then had the old type of shingles on it. I am just wondering when the new covering of metal was put on.

I wrote that I would quote further from Edmond J. Mahar's letter from Newington, Conn. He is a former Kingstonian, who lived on Washington Avenue, and used to be a paperboy taking this paper on his route. He is a subscriber to the Freeman now. He writes: "Along about 1917-1920, shall always remember on Sunday, on the front seat of the open five cent trolley to Kingston Point. The pavilion where we bought Cracker Jacks and rented a rowboat, mighty dangerous when it took off with the tide into the Hudson River."

He further remembers when he dove off the piles just north of the pavilion during summer vacations. It was about a 20 foot dive. He tells about some of the youths who were such good swimmers. Mr. Mahar remembers the Mary Powell, Washington Irving and Hendrick Hudson landing at Kingston Point. When the northbound steamer arrived at 2:15 p. m. the Ulster and Delaware trains was waiting for the vacationers to go up into the Catskills.

Seek U Thant Successor

U.S.-Soviet Split Likely Before UN Question Settled

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats knew from hard experience that weeks of bargaining and compromise — along with possible aggravation of U.S.-Soviet relations — will precede agreement on a successor to Secretary-General U. Thant.

The list of those mentioned for the post is not promising. Some have been ticked off as unqualified, while others are obviously unacceptable to all the big powers.

That is why the diplomats have been reluctant to begin the search until they are convinced that Thant will not reconsider his decision to step down at the end of the year.

Chance Involved

The choice of a secretary-general involves a large element of chance, and the question in the minds of many is how long the United Nations can count on getting such men as Thant, Dag Hammarskjöld and Trygve Lie.

Under the U.N. Charter the office of secretary-general is open to all. In practice many distinguished leaders are barred by unwritten law, tradition and the threat of a big power veto.

It has been accepted by now that the secretary-general must come from a small, nonaligned country and must be acceptable to all the big powers. This narrows the field to those who have either been relatively obscure or who have avoided involvement in major controversies.

Not an American

As Lie himself tells it, "It was generally agreed that the secretary-general should not be an American because this would give too much to a single member nation. The United States itself took the view that an American should not be secretary-general."

The big powers decided each would have a representative in the "cabinet" of the secretary-general. This was put into practice by Lie, although he felt that this decision encroached on his own authority to select his assistants.

Some of the men eventually selected under this arrangement went on to establish themselves as international figures, although none was ever considered eligible to become head of the United Nations. These included Ralph J. Bunche, who won the Nobel Peace Prize for his work in negotiating the Palestine armistice in 1949; Paul G. Hoffman, head of the U.N. Development program; David Owen, British economist

May Direct Dial To Virgin Islands

Telephone customers in Kingston can now dial their own calls to an overseas point for the first time, it was announced today by New York Telephone manager William J. Pearson.

Direct distance dialing between the continental United States and the U. S. Virgin Islands was formally inaugurated on September 19. Telephone customers here can now dial directly to phones in the Virgin Islands of St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John without the assistance of an operator.

Significant Step

"This represents a significant step forward and foreshadows the day when calling someone overseas—say London or Paris—will be as easy and as fast as calling across town," Pearson said.

While U. S. mainland telephone customers may now dial directly to Canada, they must go through either an overseas or long distance operator to call other points outside the country.

Telecommunications experts from many nations, including the United States, are developing plans to make it possible for persons anywhere in the world to dial another directly. The introduction of direct distance dialing to the Virgin Islands illustrates what they have in mind.

To reach the Virgin Islands a person first dials the numeral one—as on all calls placed beyond the local calling area—followed by the telephone area code assigned to the Virgin Islands, 809, and then the number desired at St. Thomas, St. Croix or St. John.

"People in the Islands will be able to dial in the same way to telephones on the U. S. mainland."

Introduced in 1951

The Bell Telephone System first introduced direct distance dialing to speed long distance calls in Englewood, N. J. Nov. 10, 1951. Today, customers here can dial their own calls to about 100 million telephones in the United States and Canada.

Attica GI Killed In Viet Action

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A 21-year-old soldier, who entered the Army a little more than a year ago, has died in Viet Nam fighting.

Spec. 4 Thomas E. Beglinger of Attica, attached to the 1st Battalion, 1st Infantry Division, was killed Sunday, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Beglinger, said Tuesday night.

He had been serving in the Thuot Vinh area north of Saigon. A native of Warsaw, Beglinger was graduated from Attica Central High School in 1962 and from Alfred Agricultural and Technical College in 1964. He was inducted into the Army Aug. 25, 1965.

Besides his parents, his survivors include two brothers and three sisters.

Thruway Rejects Teamsters' Bid On Recognition

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Thruway Authority has turned down a Teamsters Union local's request that it be given exclusive recognition to represent toll and maintenance Thruway employees.

In a letter to the secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 445, the Thruway's general manager, Warren M. Wells, said that such recognition would be contrary to state law.

Wells told Theodore G. Daley that the Thruway guarantees every employee the right to join and be represented by any employee organization—but that the organization had to abide by certain rules.

Wells noted that the Thruway presently recognizes the Civil Service Employees Association and the State Employees Council 50, AFL - CIO, as bargaining agents for its employees.

Further, he told Daley in a letter dated Sept. 30, the Authority had not received any written designation from Thruway employees signifying a desire to be represented by the Teamsters.

"When such designations are received, and when Local 445 is prepared to formally recognize and acknowledge its acceptance of the responsibilities of employee organizations," Wells told Daley, the Thruway would extend recognition to the Teamsters and arrange a meeting of Teamsters and Authority representatives.

The Teamsters are attempting to organize the toll and maintenance workers. The State Employees Council 50 is leading the fight against Teamster representation.

hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Most people hesitate to put reflector tape on the outside of their car.

For safety's sake, I suggest they place a large "X" of reflector tape across the inside of the trunk lid and inside the hood.

When you lift the trunk and hood, the strips of tape can be seen for miles from either direction. It might come in handy if stranded on a highway some dark night.

Mrs. G. A. E.

Dear Heloise:

I live in a climate where there's much dampness. I have learned to put about six thicknesses of newspaper between the mattress and coil springs of the bed. This is great for absorbing some of the excess moisture caused by high humidity, and helps keep the dampness out of the mattress and bed clothes.

Selma Scotten

Yes, this does work. I have also found that if you line closet shelves with six or eight folded pieces of newspaper, it will help absorb the moisture in your closets.

It's great if you keep your shoes on the shelf.

When it comes to clean out your closet, all you have to do is replace the old newspapers.

Heads Committee For GOP Victory

The Committee for a Republican Victory in November is headed up in Ulster County by two men Hamilton Fish, Jr., Republican Candidate for Congress, has termed "two of the most valuable men in the Republican party in this District."

They are Kenneth Davenport, chairman of the committee, and Bruce G. Schoonmaker, treasurer.

Davenport says he has always been an enrolled Republican and interested in the welfare of the party, but has never chosen to seek office. As chairman of the fund raising for Ulster County for the Committee for a Republican Victory in November, "assisted by many fine volunteer workers throughout the county," Davenport said, "I am certain of a success in this drive."

A native of Ulster County, Davenport was graduated from Kingston High School and Cornell University. On completion of his studies in 1929, he entered the feed, coal and oil business established by his father and is still associated with the company as president of Walter Davenport Sons, Inc., of High Falls. His home is in Stone Ridge.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College, Davenport is also a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Stone Ridge, of the local grange and fire company, of Wiltwyck Country Club of Kingston and is an avid supporter of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and the Turnau Opera Company.

Schoonmaker, treasurer of the Republican Victory in November Committee, has been active in Republican politics on the state and local levels. Currently he is program chairman of the Town of Rochester Republican Club. He was an original backer of Hamilton Fish Jr., and was co-chairman of the Hamilton Fish for Congress committee in the Town of Rochester during the recent Primary contest.

A graduate of Kerhonkson High School, Schoonmaker attended Dutchess and Ulster Community Colleges, specializing in social science and business. He owns a registered Legal Service Agency and is employed in the engineering division of I.B.M. in Kingston.

He is active in numerous civic and fraternal organizations and is a member of the Rochester Reformed Church, Accord.

Issue Bonds for Skidmore

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Dormitory Authority has issued $6.4 million in bonds for construction at Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs.

The brokerage firm of Kidder, Peabody and Co. in Manhattan purchased the issue Tuesday from the authority. The bonds carry an average net interest of 4.6582 and will mature serially from 1969 to 1998.

Sisters Take Part In Mission Parley

A representative group of the Daughters of Mary, Health of the Sick, Cragsmoor, attended the 17th annual meeting of the Mission Secretariat this past week, at the Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D. C.

Each year approximately 1,000 priests, brothers, sisters and lay apostles — representing the 7,400 United States missionaries staffing overseas missions—meet to discuss problems they all encounter in the course of spreading the faith to the entire world.

Cragsmoor Sisters attending these assemblies were: Sister Annmarie Chiusano, Assistant General of the Order, Directress of Junior Sisters and Novices; Sister Joan Marie Coss, Councilor of the Order, and now a staff member of St. Mary School of Religious Education in Ellenville; Sister Alice Shea, Councilor, and staff member for the past nine years at St. Mary

The Daughters of Mary, Health of the Sick are a missionary organization of Roman Catholic Religious Sisters who presently conduct missions in Okinawa, Guatemala, Ellenville and neighboring areas. They do medical work, social service work, religious education and guidance, and they train the native people in these professions.

DEAR ABBY: Exactly how should a minister's wife dress in this day and age? I get so much criticism I hate to go out of the house. Is there anything wrong with a sheath dress, which is neither too short nor too tight, but is sleeveless? And shouldn't a minister's wife be able to wear colors? (People would like to see me in black all the time, I'm told.) And isn't it permissible for a minister's wife to wear pale pink lipstick and matching nail polish on occasion? And when all the other women in the congregation wear nylons and heels, what is a minister's wife supposed to wear — high button shoes and lisle stockings?

DEAR SICK: Your ideas of what to wear and when to wear it sound natural and reasonable to me. Be yourself and ignore the critics' cat calls. That should be acceptable in the living church of today.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single woman, living alone. A prowler broke into my apartment about 2 months ago. A police investigation followed. Now the investigating officer is making a pest of himself. He drops in for coffee any time he feels like it. He talks incessantly about his domestic problems and his children. Recently he has made some very cutting remarks about his wife from whom he says he is separated.

He has even maneuvered a couple of home-cooked dinners by dropping in at meal time. I am afraid if I give him the axe any other married man would have received in the beginning, all future calls for help from the police department might be ignored. How can I get rid of him?

DEAR STUCK: Thank the man for his diligence as a police officer, but tell him you would prefer he not continue to drop in. And if he doesn't get the message, tell the chief. That should end it and keep the record straight for the future.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for 2 years and already she is tired of me. She swears she still loves me as much as ever, but what am I supposed to believe when she tells me she wants twin beds? We are moving from our small apartment into a little house and the question of a bedroom suite came up.

That's when she told me she wanted twin beds. Before we were married we agreed on a double bed, and she seemed satisfied. I have argued all I can. She insists that we will both sleep better in twin beds. Maybe SHE will, but I am hurt.

DEAR MICKY: If she swears she still loves you what do you want, an affidavit? Remember you agreed on a double bed BEFORE you were married, so you can't blame her for not knowing your sleeping habits. Maybe you snore, hog the SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The U.S. Air Force announced today that a B52 raid two months ago killed more than 100 Viet Cong soldiers, the largest claim of the war for a B52 strike.

The Air Force's delayed report said the long-range bombers on Aug. 28 hit two target areas 55 miles northwest of Saigon in Tay Ninh province.

The announcement said the report came from an intelligence agent who surveyed the target areas after the raids.

More than merely a field machine, it could also be used to power sawmills, cotton gins and threshers.

Human Element Involved in Try At Panda Mating

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW MOSCOW (AP) — With the London Zoo's girl panda acting sexy toward the interested male panda of the Moscow Zoo, human problems cropped up today to delay their union.

The London Zoo's curator of mammals, Dr. Desmond Morris, wanted to put Miss Chi-Chi with Mr. An-An as soon as possible for fear that the romantic moment might pass before progress could be made toward perpetuating the giant panda species in the Western world.

But the director of the Moscow Zoo, Igor P. Sosnovsky, was out of town and he apparently had to authorize the getting-together of the two pandas.

Morris told newsmen that things would have to wait until Sosnovsky returns Thursday.

That will be the fifth day that Chi-Chi has appeared to be in the mood for love. Morris said the period when Chi-Chi is receptive to An-An's advances might last from five days to two weeks — and such moods come to pandas only every six months.

Morris said that whatever happens, he will take Chi-Chi home to London on Oct. 14.

When the two giant pandas — the only ones in captivity outside Communist China and North Korea — were first put together seven months ago, they acted hostile instead of romantic. Hopes of having a little baby panda were put off.

They are in adjoining cages in the Moscow Zoo.

Rates CBS Test Mild Amusement

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS had us testing ourselves again Tuesday night. This time it was a sports and physical fitness quiz and it really didn't add up to much except mild amusement.

Of course, this test-taker may just be sore about ending up with a miserable score — high side of poor. I knew which pitch out of three was the baseball strike, but I called the runner out at first when he wasn't. I was able to tell lacrosse from pushball, and a butterfly stroke from the crawl in swimming.

But had bad trouble with the identities of record-breaking runners and the burn-up rate of calories during a brisk walk.

This test, unlike earlier ones on driving or income taxes, was a hodge-podge covering everything from Satchel Paige's recipe for longevity to the speed at which baseballs travel, and must really be counted more as entertainment than enlightenment.

Earlier in the evening there was available still another fun and danger filled episode of NBC's "The Girl from U.N.C.L.E." It would seem wise if Mr. Waverly, the U.N.C.L.E. boss fired that April Dancer. She is intrepid all right but too glib for a secret agent. Tuesday night she stumbled around in a spooky dark theatre after a telephone call any member of the audience could have told her was a ruse.

"Petticoat Junction" on CBS has quietly moved into its fourth season as a popular but largely unsung little comedy series. Most episodes — like Tuesday night's — are low key, but there is a pleasant quality about its country-style humor.

The scripts are professional and are handled deftly by the regular performers. In particular, Bea Benadaret, who plays the mother of the three pretty girls, invests her role with a sort of warm and weary cynicism that goes down very easily.

On a return visit to NBC's "Occasional Wife," it still looked like an amusing show with two exceptionally attractive, bright young stars, Michael Callan and Patricia Harvey.

Appraise Mao's Successes, Failures in Past 17 Years

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — An undertaker isn't necessarily the right man for a chicken farm, particularly if his idea of raising chickens is to beat them with a stick and scare them with a fog horn.

Mao Tse-tung, 72, who buried ancient China, is using a stick and a horn on the modern Chinese, and making a mess of it, even though right now they sound as docile as chickens trying to say yes.

Marks Anniversary

This month the Red Chinese celebrated the 17th anniversary of the Mao-led revolution which captured all mainland China for communism. Without question he is one of the supreme revolutionary leaders and guerrilla fighters.

His regime unified a chaotic and impoverished country. But then he had the task of taking it into the 20th century as fast as possible, with all that meant in industrialization and everything else.

This is where he revealed, despite himself, that an undertaker may not be a good chicken farmer, that a great revolutionary leader may be out of place trying to guide and run a country which needs to organize itself.

Many Chinese, judging from the repeated purges of his critics, seem to realize his deficiency, but their voices have been hushed with terror. Yet his terror tactics seem to say he has the same realization himself.

Hates Dissent

As an authoritarian most of his life, perhaps in part the upside-down product of his resentment against his stern father, it is not hard to see why he would try to destroy any dissent.

It would jeopardize his dream of China as he thinks it ought to be and challenge his rightness and fitness for his present role of omniscient patriarch. If dissent prevailed, it would diminish his place in history.

Yet he can't escape the realization, since he saw it happen with Stalin, that the ideas of yesterday's leader may prove out of date tomorrow. Mao is trying to make yesterday last forever. He is having himself deified.

The result. The Chinese people are being clubbed into iron conformity and into subservience to him, his sayings have become the Chinese bible, all criticism is being rendered impossible, and the sanctity of Mao is being shouted into their skulls.

Knows Tradition

He knows well the tradition of the cunning Chinese superman and demonstrated it in 1956 when, to find his hidden or potential critics, he conned them into coming out in the open.

"Let a hundred flowers bloom," he said, "let a hundred schools of thought contend." With this assurance, the critics opened up, and he crushed them.

In 1958 he showed his inadequacy as a peacetime leader when, with the "great leap forward," he plunged headlong into his greatest disaster. The "leap" was supposed to modernize China in a hurry.

Agriculture — thanks, also, to bad weather — collapsed, food was rationed, and farmers and workers, driven beyond endurance by malnutrition, became apathetic. By 1960 the "leap" was abandoned.

Became Disaster

Meanwhile although clumsiness, stupidity and cupidity, Red China's foreign relations became a disaster, too. Most Communist countries were alienated or made hostile. Relations with India were ruined because of China's impatience for expansion. And China lost ground in one backward country after another.

This is a wretched record but, since Mao has the army behind him, the critics among the Chinese people can do nothing. And now, as he advances into old age, Mao is more obsessed than ever with fear of new and different voices. He is using the Red Guard — multitudes of youthful hooligans with license for brutality to beat and cow any who are not already in abject conformity.

Witnesses Differ

NEW YORK (AP) — The defense in the murder trial of Ernest Gallashaw said Tuesday it will produce two boys who will swear that they saw one of three white boys kill 11-year-old Eric Dean during racial trouble in the East New York section of Brooklyn.

Gallashaw, 17, is a Negro, and so was Dean.

Note No Progress In GE Labor Talks

BOSTON (AP) — "Little progress" has been reported in negotiations between the General Electric Co. and union workers at its Ashland plant.

Some 2,000 members of Local 205 of the United Electrical Workers have struck in Ashland over a proposed cost of living increase.

In Pittsfield, 400 members of Local 140 of the American Federation of Technical Engineers remained on strike after withdrawing picket lines Tuesday, allowing 4,850 electrical workers to enter the plants.

As many as 600-700 pickets were reported guarding the Ashland plant gates Tuesday.

Office personnel were permitted to go through the lines, but truckers respected the pickets. Ashland strikers said the proposed 24-cent-an-hour living increase was inadequate.

Pittsfield strikers said they walked out over a local issue they did not define.

Adm. George Dewey was born Dec. 26, 1807.

FDR Jr. Resumes Bossism Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — Gubernatorial candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., campaigning in heavily Democratic Brooklyn Tuesday, reiterated that he is "an independent Democrat running on the Liberal party line."

He said he is running against city council president Frank D. O'Connor, the Democratic nominee, because he considers him to be "boss-picked and boss-controlled."

Roosevelt promised that if elected he will bring New York State a "new deal" comparable to his father's new deal for the nation.

He said Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is running for re-election "on a platform of broken promises."

At each stop on the campaign tour, Roosevelt mentioned his support of the civilian-dominated police review board instituted by Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay.

A man asked Roosevelt at one stop why there was no American flag on his speaking platform.

Roosevelt told the man: "You don't have to worry about the patriotism of a fellow called Frank Roosevelt, who spent five years in destroyers in the war."

Will Review Ruling

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court has agreed to review a state Public Utility Commission ruling permitting the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad to cut its commuter service in half.

At the same time, the high court Tuesday rejected an appeal to order the Erie to restore full service pending the outcome of the future court fight.

Final Holy Days Start Tonight For Area Jews

The last two days of the Feast of Tabernacles will begin tonight when the day called Shemini Atzeres begins.

This is the eighth day of the holiday and is observed according to the edict in the Bible which says, "On the eighth day a Holy Convocation shall be unto you." As this is the conclusion of the Harvest Agricultural Festival, a prayer is offered at the morning services for the autumn rains, which is called the Prayer for Geshem. Also Yizkor Memorial Services are read.

The holiday called Simchas Torah begins Thursday evening. Simchas Torah means rejoicing with the Scroll of the Law, for on this occasion the reading of the Pentateuch of the Bible is completed after a year's reading cycle of weekly portions, and is again begun with the Book of Genesis. During the religious services, prayers are offered while the congregation parades around the aisles of the synagogue embracing the scrolls of the Torah, followed by children waving holiday flags and merrily singing liturgical melodies. Simchas Torah parties for the children follow the services. During morning services all men and boys are given honors to offer blessings over the Holy Scrolls as the last chapter of Deuteronomy is read. With this joyous spirit the Holy Day season comes to an end.

Local Services

At Congregation Ahavath Israel, 72 Wurts Street, religious services will be held today 6:30 p. m. and Thursday 9:30 a. m. Memorial (Yizkor) services will be read at 11 a. m. Thursday evening, services will begin at 7 o'clock followed by the Simchas Torah celebration and party. Refreshments will be served by the Sisterhood of the congregation. Friday morning religious services will begin at 9:30 a. m. Everyone may attend these services to receive the Torah honors.

bany Avenue, a consecration service for the new students of the religious school will be held tonight 7:45. Celebration of Simchas Torah will take place at the service.

Success concluding service will be held Thursday 10 a. m. at the temple.

Services for the final days of Succos will start 6 p. m. today at Congregation Agudas Achim. Thursday morning services will start 8:30 with Yizkor memorial services at 10 a. m. Cantor Herman Slomovits and choir will officiate. Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport will speak on Why Do We Need Yizkor Services.

Simchas Torah will start 6 p. m. with procession of the scrolls at 6:30 p. m. Friday and Saturday services will be 8:30 a. m. and 6 p. m.

To Renegotiate Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House had before it today a measure authorizing the Defense Department to renegotiate fixed-price milk contracts with about 375 producers as a result of price increases.

The measure, approved by the Senate Tuesday, resulted from milk marketing orders announced by the secretary of agriculture March 1. The orders resulted in an price rise of eight cents per gallon of raw milk.

The House Armed Services Committee has approved similar legislation.

CAMPFIRE SINGALONG — Girl Scouts from every troop in the Woodstock-West Hurley Neighborhood attended a campfire program and singing session at the West Hurley Firehouse Friday Night. Singing around a roaring bonfire, Scouts, leaders and members of the families of both enjoyed an almost two hour long program which kicked off Scouting activities in the area for the current year. The annual event was heavily attended and many of the troops involved are planning special hiking sessions on Columbus Day, a school holiday. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr).

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Sheets, Shirts Needed for Work By Local Group

An urgent appeal for contributions of old sheets and men's shirts has been made by the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee. All residents of the community are asked to make donations of these materials to the Committee to aid the organization in carrying on its work of making cancer dressings.

According to Mrs. Arthur Jones president, the committee worked all summer long on cancer dressings, but was forced to cancel further work early in September because of a lack of materials. The project is a worthwhile one and deserves support. Bed pads and bed jackets are made out of the old sheets and shirts for patients in the Cancer and Tumor Clinic in Kingston. The Woodstock organization last month delivered 12 dozen bed pads and 48 bed jackets to the Clinic.

Anyone having such items to donate may leave them at the Nursing Committee headquarters in the Hous building on the Village Green at any time. Those unable to deliver them in person may have them picked up by calling Mrs. Jones.

At its recent first meeting of the fall season, members of the Nursing Committee, with a 100 per cent attendance, were advised that the Ulster County Public Health Nursing Committee will hold a luncheon next Monday at 12:30 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Reservations are due this Thursday and may be made through Mrs. Jones or Mrs. Edmund Tomasselli.

Entertainment at the luncheon is in charge of Mrs. Alex Sharpe, of Woodstock, president of the County Committee. She has promised a travelog on the Caribbean Islands.

Local residents are also reminded that the Woodstock Public Health Committee maintains a fully equipped Loan Closet, with all items available to anyone in Woodstock Township, entirely free of charge. The group also sponsors a blood bank drawing twice a year.

Reformed Church Notes Activities

At Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church this Sunday, the Rev. Donald Edgar Hicks will preach at 11 a. m. worship on the subject, "Getting Settled." A nursery is provided for the care of small children during the worship hour. Officers for the coming year for the Senior and Junior Endeavor Societies will be installed as a part of this service.

Sunday school meets at 9:15 a. m. with George Turner as superintendent. There are classes for all age groups. Classes are larger this year, but there is room for more in every department with new class divisions. Persons enrolling for this year's work should do so right away so that materials and class arrangements can be firm up for the year's study. The school is in the second term of the new Covenant Life Curriculum throughout.

Adult Bible class at 9:15 with Joseph Trindle as teacher; studying the teachings of Jesus with particular emphasis on the Parables.

Senior Christian Endeavor meets at 7:30 p. m.

Monday: Boy Scouts at 7 p. m.

Tuesday: Guild prayer group at the Simpkins' at 11 a. m.

Sunday school officers and teachers at 7:30 p. m.

Wednesday: 6:45 p. m. Church Bowling League.

Thursday: 8 p. m., Church Choir rehearsal.

Friday: Junior Christian Endeavor at 7 p. m.

Members received in the World Wide Communion season included Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Freer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard N. Hood and Miss Teri Kelley.

Slate Houghland Plays Next Week

The playreading group of Performing Arts of Woodstock will meet next Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. at the Crosswell residence, Glasco Turnpike.

The program will feature a prepared reading of two original one-act plays, "The Skin Game" and "Roses and Way Out," authored by Wright Houghland, of Woodstock. Houghland, long-time Lake Hill resident, has written for radio and television and is the winner of the Barter Theatre Award for a three-act play.

All area residents interested are invited to attend.

Junior Riders Will Compete In Mid-October

Woodstock Riding Club will hold its annual Junior Riding Day Sunday, Oct. 16, starting at 9 a. m., at the club's Ohayo Mountain Ring, Broadview Road, Woodstock.

Riders must be 18 years old or younger in order to compete and both an English and western championship will be offered.

These Junior Riding Days were first inaugurated by the local club in 1954 and, 12 years later, they are considered something of a local autumn classic for youthful horse enthusiasts and spectators.

Championship and consistent blue ribbon winners of the past have included such horses as Helen Dargan's Captain, Sartje Hitzig's Skeesix, Susan Bare's Willow, Robert Cousins' Oklahoma Duke, Chris Countryman's Tutti Frutti, Susan Jurgensen DeLisio's Little Girl and Tinker Twine's Midnight.

Other winners have included Bonnie Kaiser Mellon's Patches, Susan Ashley's Dark Mystery, James Gibson's Sugar Babe, Laura DeGross's Dutchess, Judy DeGross's Father Jack, Loretta Port's Unsolvible Problem, Richard Plaatsman's Spooky Miss, Cathy Larsen's Spider, Karen Larsen's Sister Quickly, Kim Chalmers' Lady and Richard Short's Rondo. Well remembered, too, is Emmy and Lloyd Gibson's matched pair, Tatti and Patti.

Mrs. Paul DeLisio is serving as chairman of this year's show; notes that Oct. 16 should be a date when the colors of autumn hit their peak at the beautiful Ohayo Mountain Ring. She also said spectator admission is free and picnickers are always welcome.

Set Jewelry Classes

Marie Frey, of Bearsville, will begin yet another in her series of jewelry classes locally. The award winning jeweler will hold evening classes beginning Oct. 10, from 7 to 10:30 p. m. Afternoon classes also start next week, beginning Oct. 12, from 1 to 4:30 p. m.

Those interested should register by visiting or calling the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen on the village square.

Firemen Prevent 'Bad' Woodstock Blaze Tuesday

Woodstock firefighters made a timely stop and prevented a "bad fire" Tuesday night at the Flower Box formerly Ricks Restaurant in that community.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson and Captain Bruce Reynolds of Co. 1 directed firemen as they battled the flames and confined fire damage to the kitchen area where the fire is believed to have been started by an electric short circuit.

Co. 1 firemen donned Scott Air packs to enter the smoke-filled building and used smoke ejectors to clear the dense smoke and dissipate the heat, according to Chief Wilson, who praised the firemen for their efficient work in controlling the blaze.

The fire burned through a section of the floor and up through a partition of the kitchen before it was checked. Considerable smoke damage was reported.

Chief Wilson said the fire was discovered shortly before 9:45 p. m. by John O'Hara who was working at Dietz Service Station not far from the fire scene. He notified Constable William Waterous who sounded the alarm.

Wicks Firemen to Meet

A regular monthly meeting of A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company will be held Thursday at 8 p. m. at the engine house. All members are requested to attend.

Sees Moderate Buddhists Patch Feud With Junta

An AP News Analysis

By KENNETH L. WHITING
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Moderate Buddhist leaders are patching up the bitter feud with South Viet Nam's military regime caused by the radical Buddhists.

The militant Buddhists spread turmoil in Saigon and cities in the northern part of South Viet Nam six months ago. The government cracked down, and Buddhist leaders now are divided and isolated.

Getting Out of Jail
Monks and laymen arrested during the government riots in May and June are trickling out of jail, let go in an apparent conciliatory move by the government.

TWU Approves Airlines Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union overwhelmingly approved a contract with American Airlines, TWU officials reported Tuesday.

The 5-to-1 approval by some 12,000 maintenance, stores and communications employees ends a strike threat against the nation's second largest domestic airline.

A tentative agreement was reached between the union and airline negotiators one hour before the strike deadline Sept. 28. The contract calls for three wage boosts of five per cent each, retroactive to May 1 and to be paid within 18 months.

Hourly wage rates go up as much as 59 cents, with line mechanics going from $3.57 to $4.16 an hour on Nov. 1, 1967.

More Accurate Estimates

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state expects to estimate forest fire damage more accurately this fall as a result of training given foresters in studying one-acre samples to appraise fires last spring covering 10 acres or more.

Electrical failure tops the list of car breakdowns in the United States.

ment. Eleven were freed over the weekend.

More than 1,000 were rounded up during the rioting. Sources say several hundred hard-core militant Buddhists and their followers remain behind bars. They have not been charged.

The Unified Buddhist Church (UBC), one faction of Viet Nam's leading religion, spearheaded unrest which led to the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963. But the radical monks misjudged the situation when they tried to topple premier Nguyen Cao Ky's government, the sources said.

Their demonstrations attracted world attention without getting the army support in South Viet Nam necessary to change the government. Ky's victory and the successful assembly elections Sept. 11 gave the junta its firmest control in 14 months in office.

Rivalry Threat
Ky rules by careful consensus of his National Military Committee. The only threat to the air force commander at present may be from rivalry within the junta, sources report.

Thich Tri Quang, who led the militant Buddhists, tacitly admitted the government's secure position when he called off a fast Sept. 17 after 100 days. He had said he would not eat until Ky fell but actually subsisted on dextrose and water with an occasional fruit juice chaser.

He now lives in Saigon's An Quang pagoda from which he and die-hard followers led an unsuccessful boycott of the election. More than 80 per cent of the registered voters cast ballots. The eclipse of the militant Buddhists was due partly to public apathy. Some observers believe the public got tired of their antics.

Social Security Office Explains Disability Awards

According to George J. Habernig, district manager of social security in Kingston, disability payments under the social security law are no longer limited to persons with permanent disabilities.

Habernig said he feared many people were not yet aware of a change in the social security law under which you may be eligible for benefits if you have a disability that is expected to last 12 months. Previously you could get benefits only if you had a disability that was expected to continue for a long and indefinite time, or result in death.

He pointed out that formerly many disability claims were disallowed because the impairment, although severe, was not expected to be of long and continued duration. Any mental or physical impairment that is expected to continue for as long as 12 months meets the requirements of the definition of disability under the new law.

According to Habernig, the work record requirements have not been changed. A worker must still have worked under social security at least five years out of the 10-year period just before the date the worker became disabled in order to qualify for disability payments. It is not necessary that the five years be continuous. Twenty calendar quarters of work performed at any time during the 10-year period, even though they are scattered or intermittent, will meet this requirement. Any person who has an impairment that meets these requirements should file a claim with his social security office.

Habernig said the social security office has a free booklet that explains the new law fully. Just ask for Booklet OASD-29. You may write or call the social security office located at 37 Albany Avenue.

Plan Arthritis Center

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A pilot "research arthritis center" will be set up at a New York State teaching hospital as the first step toward establishment of a statewide network of such facilities.

Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday the center, at a site to be selected later, would conduct research to aid the one million New York residents who suffer from arthritis.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Less than two years after sending its first retired American businessman ashore in a less developed land, the "Paunch Corps" is lean and trim and working hard.

The corps, a relative in ideals to the Peace Corps, completed its 100th project this week, has 300 more jobs scheduled for this year, and hopes eventually to handle 500 projects a year.

Each Job Requested

Each job will be at the request of a foreign businessman—not his government—in a free-enterprise economy. All jobs will be in relatively underdeveloped lands. None will be in Europe or the Soviet Union.

"We proved our point," said a spokesman in the jammed Manhattan headquarters. "We found out the idea works. We are willing to concede less than 10 percent of the projects will be unsuccessful, and we're ahead of that goal now."

The corps tolerates the nickname "Paunch Corps" for lack of another. Its initials, for example, produce the vocally unpalatable IESC. Its full name is the International executive Service Corps.

Heading the corps is Frank Pace Jr., former secretary of the Army and former chairman of General Dynamics Corp. His staff of 47 paid employees crowds into one floor of a narrow Fifth Avenue building and a small annex across the street.

Search for Skills

Requests from foreign companies are processed here, men are briefed and debriefed, searches go on constantly for men with specific skills. The foreign companies pay a management fee and round-trip transportation. The corps pays expenses, usually $20 to $40 a day. The corpsman gets no pay.

More often than before, the man chosen is not retired. Instead he is a key man whose employer agrees to a leave of absence at company expense. Some on the availability roster are in their 30s.

At first the corps believed a single project might take two years, but a goal of six months was set.

"Now we find three or four months is long enough to do the job," the spokesman said. "Then they get out."

Getting out is important. A highly placed native management man, for example, might fear competition if the American stayed around too long.

The growing number of requests for assistance is cited by IESC as proof of the need and acceptance from abroad. And the growing number of available consultants is offered as proof that American businessmen will volunteer.

Completed projects include 19 in Iran, 14 in Thailand, and 11 each in Brazil and Panama. Adverse criticism has been restrained, praise plentiful.

Artists Will Aid Lindbloom

Area artists under the slogan of "Artists for Lindbloom" are making plans to assist Eric Lindbloom, Peace Candidate in the 28th Congressional District, in his campaign for the post now held by Democrat Joseph Y. Resnick.

Mrs. Arthur Zaidenberg, wife of well-known artist and author whose work "Anyone Can Draw" has been a favorite for over two decades, and Mrs. Fletcher Martin, wife of another artist of national repute, are co-chairmen of "Artists for Lindbloom."

Plans are underway to solicit work by area artists for a sale expected to be held on October 23, at a place to be announced.

Mrs. Zaidenberg, an artist in her own right, is known professionally as Tommy Beere. Mrs. Martin, under the professional name of Jean Arnaldi, was the author of a novel published several years ago and has taught at several colleges, most recently at Bard College.

Glee Club to Tour

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan men's glee club will leave next May for its first round-the-world concert tour. They will make several appearances in the United States and in at least 19 foreign cities, including two in the Soviet Union.

'Mr. Viet Nam'

To Mark Heroism With Posthumous Awards Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — His fellow officers called him "Mr. Viet Nam" — the Marine's Marine who knew the most about planning an assault against Viet Cong guerrillas.

In Key Battle Today Lt. Col. Joseph E. Muir posthumously receives the Navy Cross and the Legion of Merit for his extraordinary heroism in a key battle 13 months ago that provided the United States with one of its first major victories in South Viet Nam.

Among the guests at the ceremony was to be his son, Cadet Joseph E. Muir II, 18, of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

Lt. Col. Muir's battle citation tells the story: "With utter disregard for his own safety, Col. Muir fearlessly exposed himself to intense enemy fire while leading his battalion against insurgent Viet Cong forces. Though fully cognizant of the danger, he repeatedly positioned himself in the midst of the violent action.

Upon encountering strong enemy resistance, he joined the assault companies in front line positions to personally direct their advance and succeeded in conquering two of the more strongly defended hostile areas, resulting in 215 confirmed enemy dead."

Muir's 3rd Battalion, 3rd Marine Division, was then in the midst of Operation Starlight, an amphibious landing that scattered two Viet Cong regiments massing to attack the important Chu Lai base near Da Nang.

The battle was a big morale booster for the Marines, then newly committed to Viet Nam. It marked one of the few times tricky Viet Cong units had been trapped and battered by U.S. forces.

Killed by Land Mine Muir lived through that particular hell, but three weeks later — Sept. 11, 1965 — he was again near the front during a skirmish and stepped on a mine. He was instantly killed — the first and, thus far, only Marine battalion commander to die in the Viet Nam war. He was 37.

"He was Mr. Viet Nam to his contemporaries," one Pentagon officer recalled Tuesday. "He was our contact — the guy who knew the most about operations."

5.5 Million People by '81 NEW DELHI (AP) — City officials estimate the capital's population will reach 5.5 million by 1981 and that three million persons will be without adequate shelter because of the slow pace of home construction and shortage of building materials.

Rocky on Taxes:

Says Two Levies Will Help Cut Bond-Borrowing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller says state income tax and sales tax revenues will enable him to cut by $72 million the $210 million in bond-borrowing he had planned to balance the budget.

Rockefeller said Tuesday that tax collections would be about $70 million higher than originally expected during the current fiscal year.

The governor also issued an adjusted figure officially estimating total budget expenditures at $4,007,000,000.

The first $4 - billion budget in state history.

Rockefeller had admitted toward the close of the 1966 session of the Legislature that spending would top the $4-billion level, although he had sought to hold it slightly under that amount.

In drafting the budget last winter, he had estimated revenues from income tax would be $1,390,000,000 and that sales tax collections would be $585,000,000.

Instead, Rockefeller said, income tax receipts now are expected to reach $1,455,000,000 — up $65 million — and sales tax collections will go to $600,000,000 — up $15 million.

He also readjusted some other revenue estimates slightly up or down, according to the annual Budget Summary, an official publication issued about this time each year.

Rockefeller had planned to

Wants to Change Using Untrained For Sheriff Aides

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — County sheriffs throughout the state should not be permitted to appoint untrained political favorites to the important office of law enforcement, a Supreme Court judge contends.

"We can no longer afford the comic opera of hiring untrained Keystone Cops to maintain law and order," Justice William B. Lawless Jr. added.

2 Dozen Testify Lawless was among the two dozen witnesses appearing Tuesday at a hearing conducted by the Temporary State Commission to Prepare for the Constitutional Convention.

Lawless called for the consolidation of "all police units in the state into one well - trained hard - hitting corps of dedicated personnel similar to the FBI and the New York State Police."

"We cannot remove politics from police enforcement," Lawless added, "(when the) Constitution puts virtually all the sheriffs of the state into politics as a condition of their office."

The commission also heard sell the $210 million in bonds to finance the construction of highways and mental institutions.

He said, however, the state would need now to sell only $138 million.

Besides the increase in income tax and sales tax collections, Rockefeller said he expected corporation tax revenues to reach $10 million more than originally expected.

Rockefeller attributed the tax gains to "the active economy."

pro and con statements on the creation of a one-house Legislature, the retention of a two-house Legislature and the repeal of that section of the state Constitution prohibiting state financial aid to church - supported schools.

Urges New System Peter J. Crotty, former Erie County Democratic chairman, urged that the state attorney general be appointed by the governor, instead of elected, and that he head a new State Department of Justice, modeled after the U.S. Justice Department.

Disagreement was heard among Roman Catholic and Protestant spokesmen on whether the section of the Constitution barring state financial aid to church-supported schools should be repealed.

J. Eugene McMahon, treasurer of the Catholic Charities of Buffalo, called for repeal, calling the section "an unfortunate relic of a less enlightened past."

The Rev. Arthur W. Mielke, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Buffalo, defended the section, saying "a tax rebate for churches is like giving a tax rebate to a man with a private swimming pool."

Eyes More Physicians ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State has agreed to give private medical schools in the state $6,000 for each student they add to their basic enrollments.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the program, meant to help turn out more physicians, would begin next fall.

James Figg, who became prominent in 1719, was the first recognized heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Saugerties Board Reserves Action On Tax Relief

Saugerties Town Board members have reserved decision on a 50 per cent tax exemption on properties owned by residents aged 65 or over after a public hearing here on the matter last week. All indications, however, point to the fact that an ordinance or regulation will eventually be formulated which would give elderly residents some tax relief.

More than 100 people attended last week's public hearing and the vast majority of the audience was composed of persons in the 65 years of age and older category. Obviously, such an audience would favor the passage of tax relief locally and no strenuous objections were heard. Maurice L. Clements, a trustee of the Saugerties Village Board, was present; did go so far as to say that he was not in favor of such legislation until the Board had learned more about the matter.

Town Board members seem to feel they know all there is to know. Quite simply, they assert, residents of the Town of Saugerties, 65-years-of-age or older, with an income of $3,000 or less, could receive a 50 per cent reduction in assessed valuation next year, giving them some relief from high taxes, if a local resolution is passed to that effect.

Quite a few of those attending the public hearing wanted to know how such tax relief would effect other taxes locally. Board members say there is no way of estimating this until it is known how many property owners would qualify. To glean this information, the board is now having printed application forms for this very purpose. These forms will be available soon and those interested in possible tax relief should submit such forms to the board at least 90 days before the closing of the town books. In other words, the forms should be filed 90 days prior to Grievance Day, the third Tuesday in June.

Plan Fall Brunch

The Mission Study Group of the Blue Mt. Reformed Church will hold its Fall Brunch at the church on Tuesday, Oct. 11. Serving will be from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. John Lasher Sr. or Mrs. Edwin Garrison. Gentlemen are welcome as well as ladies and the committee in charge would like to know how many will be in a party even though no estimate can be made of the time when a group plans to attend.

Local Educators Offering Program Of Area Council

Saugerties Area Council of Churches will sponsor a conference for church school workers at Saugerties Reformed Church Sunday, Oct. 23. The program will center around improved methods in teaching with Mrs. John Hayes conducting a period on use of art in religious instruction, and the Rev. Frederick Imhoff leading a period in more effective methods in reading.

All church school workers and others interested are cordially invited. It is hoped that many friends will avail themselves of this instruction and fellowship. Box lunches (bring your own) will provide for the evening meal with coffee and dessert provided by the host church. Reservations are requested so that proper arrangements may be made.

Registration will begin at 3:30 p. m. Mrs. Hayes is co-ordinator of elementary art in the Saugerties district. The Rev. Mr. Imhoff is pastor of the Saugerties Congregational Church and a teacher of English in Catskill High School. The October meeting of the council will be held at the Lutheran Church of West Camp Monday, Oct. 17 at 6 p. m.

Attendance High At GOP Outing

A large and enthusiastic group of members of the Town of Saugerties Republican Club Inc., attended the September meeting held at Anton's Restaurant, with George Turner, president, presiding.

Robert Francello, ticket chairman for the first Republican picnic held at Cantine's Field, gave his report. The picnic was a success with well over 500 people attending; gave residents an opportunity to bring the whole family to an old-fashioned outing to meet all the elected candidates of the Republican Party who were in attendance. Special mention was given to Anthony Carrado and Mrs. Jay Oliver for the large number of tickets they sold.

Members felt that they had learned through experience what changes should be made in the picnic next year. It was the unanimous feeling of the club that this type family political affair was something that had too long been lacking as a project of Saugerties Republicans.

The committee for the picnic included Ben Rinaldi, general chairman; Sparky Greco, food; Michael Catalinotto, program; Cliff Snyder and Louis Francello, arrangements; and Robert Francello, tickets.

All food that was left over from the picnic was sent to the Helen Russell Finger Home on Ulster Avenue.

The program for the evening was "November Campaign Strategy" and was conducted by Louis Francello, Town Republican chairman. Francello stressed the fact that all Republicans must divert their energies towards one common goal, victory in the November elections. All Republicans should unite and, as a close organization, should support the entire Republican ticket, he said.

The purpose of the Saugerties Republican Club Inc. is to act as the right arm of the Town Committee, and to give its assistance when asked. Republican headquarters will be open again in the same place as usual, the vacant store across from Checkers Discotheque. Headquarters will be manned for one month before election day through the cooperation of the club and the Town Committee. All campaign materials will be available.

It was also announced that the Town Republican Committee will hold its annual campaign banquet on Oct. 15 at the Flamingo Restaurant.

These Republican banquets have always been a huge success; give an opportunity to all interested Republicans to enjoy themselves at a delicious dinner and social affair while also giving all in attendance the added opportunity to meet and listen to the Republican candidates running in the November election.

The program for the October meeting will be Gov. Rockefeller's Budget. This presentation will include a movie and speaker, giving an accurate accounting in a pleasant, easy way of how the state spends tax money. This Oct. 20 meeting is open to the public and should prove to be highly interesting and informative to all who attend, since the program has met with great enthusiasm whenever it has been presented. The club feels that this program is a continuation of one of its purposes by bringing to the Town of Saugerties each month during their meetings, an interesting and vitally important Republican subject. George Turner, president says one can only consider himself a good Republican if he is active and well informed in Republican policies.

Fire Auxiliary To Hold Social

Forty-six members of the Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary attended the recent first meeting of the season of the organization. Members were greeted by Evelyn Sherwood, president, who said she was pleased to see so many in attendance. Reports were presented on the bazaar held last August and the president thanked all Auxiliary members and their neighbors for cooperating in making this affair a huge success.

The Auxiliary welcomed two new members, Mrs. Ruth Winnie and Mrs. Maureen Mower, and learned that three members are currently hospital patients, including Mrs. Howard Garrison, Mrs. Raymond Whitaker and Mrs. Hans Jorgenson.

Members voted to hold a games social on Oct. 21. A donation will be asked and refreshments will be served. Madeline Snyder is serving as chairman of this project.

Notes of Interest

Time is growing short for making reservations for the American Legion Auxiliary banquet to be held Thursday, Oct. 13, at 8 p. m., at Mt. Marion Inn. Reservations must be made no later than Oct. 10 by calling Catherine Van Gaasbeek or Gladys Amend. Members are reminded that they may bring guests.

Mrs. Howard Williams of Montgomery Street, has returned from the Benedictine Hospital, and Richard Gardner, of Barclay Lane, is currently a patient in that hospital.

Local patients at Veterans Hospital in Albany include Leonard Freiligh of Dock Street and Edwin Schoonmaker of Main Street.

Board Will Meet With Three Firms On Buying Truck

It is always considered a major step when a town or village votes to purchase a large piece or highway machinery or equipment. The Saugerties Village Board has been discussing just such a possibility for several weeks and has still not come to a final agreement on the matter.

At this week's board meeting, Mayor Cornelius M. Cox appointed all village trustees as a committee to investigate the purchase of a heavy duty truck here, following lengthy discussion on the subject. Previously, he had named only two trustees to such a committee.

What is wanted here is a truck which could be used for snow removal and other heavy duty jobs. In order to make a possible selection, the committee will meet with representatives of the three major companies which manufacture such equipment. Represented at the meeting, to be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Village Clerk's office, will be spokesmen for such firms as Walters, International and FWD.

The board also discussed complaints received by Trustee Richard J. Underhill concerning the dumping of garbage at the end of Main Street, near the cemetery. Local public works crews periodically burn grass at this spot. Street Commissioner Maurice L. Clements said orders will be given to keep the gate in that area locked in the future in order to prevent further dumping of garbage there.

In other business, Mayor Cox read bills totaling $2,975.03, received from Lloyd G. Whitaker, 32 Hill Street, Saugerties, for consultation, inspection, materials, repairs and equipment to install a drainage field locally. The field was needed due to the threat of settlement of the highway and embankment being damaged by seepage from apparent leaks or breaks in the sanitary sewer lines in Hill Street. The bills were ordered turned over to Daniel Lamb, village attorney.

Entering into discussion on the new state law pertaining to partial tax exemption on real property for elderly persons in the village, the Board decided to set a date for a public hearing on the matter at its next regular meeting. Saugerties Town Board has already held such a hearing. Finally, John Offerman, Partition Street merchant, appeared before the Board to advise that it was the feeling of the Parking Committee of the Saugerties Area Chamber of Commerce that the driveway to the Partition Street parking lot should be used for both entrance and exit of cars. Offerman said the committee estimated that 90 per cent of the cars using the lot do exit from the driveway in spite of signs which designate it as an entrance only. Police Commissioner Charles W. Steele Jr. was appointed by Mayor Cox to further investigate this request.

Strauss Opera Far Cry From 'Salome'

By MILES A. SMITH
Associated Press Arts Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Strauss' "Die Frau ohne Schatten" (The Woman Without a Shadow) has entered the repertory of the Metropolitan Opera for the first time. As a gigantic new production, it will serve as a novelty to be talked about, but it has its shortcomings.

"Die Frau" seldom is performed on this side of the Atlantic. San Francisco gave this 1919 work its American premiere in 1959 — and it is a far cry from "Salome" or "Der Rosenkavalier."

With a cumbersome libretto by Hugo Hofmannsthal, it is a bizarre fairy tale lifted to the form of a complex allegory, preaching the value of selfishness. As fantasy, it is heavily Teutonic.

In the opening performance Sunday, Irene Dalis, as the nurse and Christa Ludwig as the dyer's wife were both splendid. Tenor James King as the emperor and Walter Berry, making his Met debut as the dyer, carried their roles well enough. As the empress, Leonie Rysanek seemed to be miscast, or at least was having trouble with the high notes.

The sets and costumes were designed by Robert O'Hearn. Matching the fantasy of the story with fantastic ideas in visual imagery, he went overboard in several of the scenes. Nathaniel Merrill's stage direction seemed to bring out an old-fashioned style of acting, and conductor Karl Boehm's interpretation was in the same spirit.

Church Society Meets

Msgr. James J. McNally spoke at the first fall meeting of the Rosary-Altar Society of St. Catherine Labourer Church, Lake Katrine, recently, asking each member to broaden their horizons and look beyond their lot in life.

During the meeting Mrs. Beverly Reynolds and Mrs. Aileen Dellacato, co-chairmen for the card party, reported on progress of the party and Mrs. Donald Simpson was named chairman of the Sick and Courtesy Committee. One new member, Mrs. Dorothy School, was welcomed to the society.

Hinzmann - Fink Nuptials Are Announced

exchanged marriage vows with Fred A. Fink of 6 Parker Lane, Shokan, N. Y., at 11 a. m. before a nuptial Mass celebrated by the Rev. Maurice J. Regan in St. Mary's Church, Wappingers Falls, N. Y. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marcella Fink of Cleveland, Ohio and the late Anthony M. Fink.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of organza over taffeta with accents of alencon lace, seed pearls and crystals. Her wattleau train was accented also with lace and a four tiered veil of silk was held by a butterfly headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white roses with stephanotis.

Miss Mary Hinzmann of Wappingers Falls, sister of the bride was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Masten, Miss Judith Donnelly and Miss Alice Milligan, all of Wappingers Falls. The maid of honor wore a gown of moire with pink top and carnation toned skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses with pink carnations. A matching fabric bow held her double veil. The attendants were gowned in styles identical to that of the honor attendant and they carried similar bouquets.

John Andrulis of Cleveland, Ohio, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Charles Zink of Santa Monica, Calif., Edwin B. Hinzmann Jr., of Wappingers Falls, and James Donegan of Staatsburg.

A reception was given in the K of C Hall in Wappingers Falls after which the couple left on a wedding trip to Bar Harbor, Maine.

The bride is a graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes High School and Krissler Business Institute, Poughkeepsie. Her husband is an alumnus of Collinwood High School, Cleveland, Ohio. Santa Monica, Calif., and is now attending State University College at New Paltz where he is majoring in Physics. The bride is employed as a receptionist by IBM in Kingston. Her husband is an engineering instructor for the IBM Field Engineering Education Center in Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Fink will be at home at 6 Parker Lane, Shokan, N. Y.

Laurie Van Karner, Richard W. Reissler
Take Marriage Vows in Saugerties Church

On September 24, 1966 at 11 a. m. marriage vows were exchanged in the Lutheran Church of Atonement, Saugerties, N. Y., by Laurie Christine Van Karner of Port Jervis, N. Y., and Richard Werner Reissler of Saugerties. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Walter Cowan.

Altar vases of white gladioli and lilies decorated the church and the pews were marked with white satin ribbon. The bride, who is the daughter of the late Joseph and Leslie Van Karner, was given in marriage by Thomas Mayone of Saugerties. She wore a silk satin princess floor length gown with bateau neckline, victorian sleeves and A-line skirt. The sleeves, skirt and top of her wattleau pleated train were edged with re-embroidered Alecon lace. A triple tiered veil of silk illusion was gathered to an Alecon lace floral cluster and the bride carried a bouquet of pink roses centered with vivid American beauty roses.

Miss Ellen Marie Layton of Woodstock Road, Millbrook, N. Y., served as maid of honor in a chiffon empire styled sheath gown in beauty rose. The gown was styled with scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and floating chiffon back panels. Miss Layton carried a cascade of pink roses and pink miniature carnations.

Miss Joan Gorges of Cold Spring, Mrs. Phyllis Quinones of Hyde Park, Miss Carol Mayone of Saugerties and Miss Diane Longrigg of Port Jervis served as attendants. Their gowns of rose color were styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant. Their flowers consisted of American beauty roses and pink miniature carnations. Miss Longrigg, who was a junior bridesmaid, carried a noesgay of pink miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Karen Reiser of Port Jervis and Lisa Mayone of Saugerties were the flower girls. They carried noesgays of pink miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Richard Genthner of Saugerties was best man while Eugene Quinones of Hyde Park and Salvatore Palmeri of Poughkeepsie were the ushers. Richard Reiser of Port Jervis served as the ringbearer.

A reception was given in the Governor Clinton Hotel after the church ceremony. The bride is a graduate of Port Jervis Senior High School and Vassar Brothers Hospital School of Nursing.

Mr. Reissler is an alumnus of Saugerties High School and Dutchess Community College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Werner Reissler of 4 Evergreen Court, Saugerties.

Mr. and Mrs. Reissler will be at home at 36 Davis Avenue Poughkeepsie, when they return from a trip to Bermuda.

Gail Bauer Weds Stephen Filak Jr.

Saugerties served as ushers. A reception was given in Elmen's Inn, Ruby, N. Y. for approximately 90 guests.

The bride was graduated from Saugerties High School and is employed by Ferroxcube Corp. in Mt. Marion. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Saugerties High School and attended Albany Business College. He is a member of Delta Nu Omega Fraternity and is now serving in Maryland with the U. S. Army. He was employed by IBM, Kingston, prior to entering the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Filak will make their home in Saugerties.

MRS. FRANCIS J. BESAW

Carol Louise Brown Weds Francis J. Besaw

Miss Carol Louise Brown of Lake Katrine and Francis Joseph Besaw of Malone, N. Y., took their marriage vows on October 2, 1966 at a 2 p. m. double ring wedding ceremony in St. Catherine Laboure Church, Lake Katrine. Officiating was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James McNally. Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney provided traditional wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown of Lake Katrine. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Besaw of Malone, N. Y.

Mr. Brown gave his daughter in marriage. He escorted her to the altar which was decorated with vases of gladioli and mums. For the wedding ceremony, the bride chose to wear a sheath styled gown of crepe with a bodice of chantilly lace and sequin embroidered train of matching lace and crepe. She wore a double crown of pearl blossoms to which was shirred her silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white baby roses.

Mrs. Shirley Minkler of 68 Allen Street, Saugerties, was the matron of honor. Serving as attendants were Susan Brown, sister of the bride, Rosemarie Brown and Nancy Napoleon, cousins of the bride. Donna Marie Minkler, the bride's niece, served as flower girl. The honor attendant and bridesmaids wore empire style sheath gowns in crepe with wattleau panels. The honor attendant's was in rose and the bridesmaids in two-tone pink. All wore matching headpieces with short tulle veils. The flower girl wore a gown similar to the attendant's and a crown of tiny flowers in her hair.

Gary Finn of Millerton served as best man. Ushers were Eugene Lowe of Kingston, cousin of the bride, Donald Minkler of Saugerties, brother-in-law of the bride, and Michael Dibble of Kingston.

A reception for 125 guests

Master Mason Night Planned by OES

On Friday evening, (Oct. 7), the First Queens District in 1941, Kingston Chapter No. 155, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold Master Mason night at which time they will be honored to have William R. Knapp, Grand Treasurer of the Grand Lodge-Free and Accepted Masons, State of New York, representing Frank C. Staples, Grand Master of Masons, State of New York.

Mr. Knapp was born in England, moving to the United States when he was seven years of age. He is now serving as assistant vice president of the Marine Midland Trust Company of New York City.

Masonically he was Master of Forest Hills Lodge 946 in 1940, District Deputy Grand Master of the First Queens District in 1941, and has since served masonry in numerous other capacities.

Other dignitaries who have been invited to attend will be Frank E. Ray, District Deputy Grand Master of the Greene Ulster District and Donald Dingman, Assistant Grand Lecturer of the Greene-Ulster District. Invitations have also been sent to all Masonic bodies.

Mrs. Verne Aldridge, Matron of Kingston Chapter extends a personal invitation to all Master Masons to attend this meeting. She also urges all Eastern Star members to attend.

After the formal meeting, a special skit will be presented by the officers of Kingston Chapter. Refreshments will be served in the dining room after the meeting.

Wedding Announced For Sonja Anderson and Kenneth Jensen

Miss Sonja Marie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Anderson, 134½ Linderman Avenue, Kingston, exchanged marriage vows with Kenneth Jensen, son of Mrs. Nora Jensen, Atwood Road, and the late Jens Jensen. The ceremony took place Sunday, Sept. 25, 1966 in the Old Dutch Church, Kingston. The Rev. Arthur Oudemool officiated. Gordon Bush was the organist.

White gladioli and white snowdrift mums decorated the church for the occasion.

A reception for 125 guests was given at the Snack Bar Pavilion. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of Chantilly lace and organza over silk taffeta. The skirt was bouffant and featured a redingote effect of organza terminating in a circular chapel length train. A bouffant veil of French silk illusion was held by a crown of Chantilly lace trimmed with pearls and crystals. The bride carried a cascade of white snowdrift mums and ivy. Miss Sandra Anderson was bridesmaid for her sister. She wore a full length gown of blue chiffon over taffeta with a sheath skirt. Her headpiece was a leaf cap of tulle with a circular veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow and white snowdrift mums and ivy.

Serving as attendants were Miss Tina Badalamenti, Port Ewen; Mrs. Richard Dieter, Kingston; Mrs. Edward Milone, Kingston. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the maid of honor. They carried yellow snowdrift mums with ivy. Bill Hansen of Stone Ridge was best man for his nephew. Ushers were Howard Markie of Stone Ridge; Lyle Lyons of Kingston and David Anderberg of Rosendale.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by IBM in Kingston. The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Bill Becker.

Mr. and Mrs. Jensen will reside in Glenrie Lake Park.

A Correction Is Made

In a report of the remarks made by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Austin V. Carey at the annual dinner of Court Santa Maria, Catholic Daughters of America, published in The Freeman recently, the saying to the taxpayer of New York State by the non-public schools under church auspices was given as approximately five or six million dollars.

The more correct figure is 500 or 600 million dollars.

Study Nervous System

Scientists See World Through Flies' Eyes to Help Mankind

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists, trying to learn how a nervous system works, are looking at the world through flies' eyes.

They say they've gotten so good at it they can tell rather precisely what a fly sees and how well—as it buzzes away, transfixed, in a special fly "planetarium."

The eye test is part of a program to study the entire nervous system to find how it works. Scientists hope, for instance, to see how light received by the eye is translated into consciousness and action. Ultimately, the research could help development of electronic eyes that read print.

Study Many Creatures

Says Dr. Gilbert McCann, director of the California Institute of Technology's Booth Computing Center:

"We've been studying many creatures, but the fly seems to fit our needs best. The fly's nervous system has many properties that are similar to the human system. Although the fly's is simpler, it's complicated enough, though, to be interesting."

McCann and his researchers work with the flies in lower levels of the ultramodern computing center, where a special laboratory is fitted out to serve as a combination paradise-nightmare for flies.

Comfortable Home

The paradise part is the fly's secure, comfortable home, where he's born, fed and bred. Life is simple—until he's put to work. Then begins the nightmare.

Flies selected for experiments first find little cardboard tabs glued to their backs. The tabs are used for identifying each fly and has handles to keep them tied down.

And tied down they are—to computers.

The identifying tab is hooked, fly and all, into a supersensitive meter that tells the computer which way a fly would fly if allowed to. The fly and meter are then placed inside the fly planetarium, where lights of different patterns and shapes can be spotted inside the dome-like surface.

Vary the Lights

Thus, by startling the fly with lights, and by varying the lights, scientists see how the fly responds.

What have they learned?

The fly's eye, McCann said, "has about the same ability as the human eye for observing dim objects. Even though it is much smaller and more primitive, its light-gathering power about equals that of the human eye."

But that wasn't enough. McCann and his colleagues wanted to go deeper, and that called for fly surgery and a bigger planetarium.

In the larger device, with a microscope to aid the surgery, tiny electrodes were planted in the optic nerve fibers behind the flies' eyes.

Then, when lights were flashed inside the dome, the computer recorded the tiny electric impulses the eyes sent to the fly's brain. Thus the experimenters learned what kind of test patterns produce what kind of electrical signals in the fly's nervous system.

With probes at different points along the fly's optic nerve fibers, McCann said, it is possible to detect any changes in the signal patterns.

This, he explained, will indicate whether ganglions—groups of nerve cells acting as primitive brains—have received impulsive patterns and have interpreted, or altered, the pattern before passing it on down the fiber.

Stress the Role Office for Aging Plays in County

The Office for the Aging has been designated by Governor Rockefeller as the single state agency to supervise and plan programs for the aging in New York State, according to officials of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health.

These programs may include coordination and community planning, information services, counseling services, home care and protection services, and the operation of multi-service centers, it was noted.

The office, authorized to establish, operate and maintain such programs directly, may also contract with counties, cities, towns, villages, school districts or public or private non-profit corporations, association, institutions or agencies concerned with the aging, for the operation and maintenance of such programs. Authorities will encourage establishment of local councils on aging, with broad community representation, so that all programs will be fully coordinated and responsive to community needs, association workers said.

Under contract programs, with local agencies, the State will pay the applicable federal aid and will share one-half of the remaining cost of the programs.

The program has immense possibilities for imaginative long-term planning for the aging, a spokesman said, with this county to form Federal and State aid, providing there is the local leadership. The local Association for Mental Health is one of the thirteen member agencies of the Community Chest of Ulster County.

Grabbed Wrong Bag

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Jose M. Tosato closed his restaurant one night recently and took the day's receipts home in a paper bag.

Later he answered a knock on the door and was pushed aside by two men, one of whom had a pistol and the other a knife, police said.

Tosato told police the men grabbed a paper bag from the table and fled.

But, he said, they grabbed a bag full of candy instead of the one with the money.

Surprisingly New! Superbly Cadillac!

ELDORADO...world's finest personal car

INTRODUCING THE 1967 STANDARD OF THE WORLD

You are looking at two of the newest luxury cars ever created. They are typical of the dramatic newness you'll find everywhere in the Cadillac cars for 1967. The Fleetwood Eldorado—the world's finest personal car—is the first exciting case in point. Eldorado is a styling masterpiece... with its spectacularly long hood, its daring new roof lines and its dramatic rear quarter design. It is also an engineering triumph. For Eldorado is the first car in the world to combine the surefooted traction of front wheel drive with the maneuverability of variable ratio power steering and the balance of automatic level control. And with all its spirit and action, Eldorado provides unusual five-passenger spaciousness and the superb quietness and comfort that only Cadillac could create. This brilliant newness also marks the Cadillacs you are most familiar with. For they are the most beautiful Cadillacs of all time... with a new forward-sweeping grille and a new side contour that flows from front to rear! And with this new Cadillac look come a number of other significant achievements... the most luxurious interiors in history... a new generously padded instrument panel... a more responsive Cadillac engine... improved variable ratio power steering... and a new General Motors-developed energy absorbing steering column. Discover all twelve of Cadillac's exciting new models for 1967 for yourself... at your authorized dealer's. Once you have personally seen and driven these magnificent automobiles, you'll agree that never before has anything on the highway said new so beautifully... or Cadillac so well!

Shirley Van Kleek's Successful Debut Is Top Event in 1966 Sports Car Racing

Sports car racing, which is rapidly becoming one of the nation's major sports attractions, may soon have one of its newest driving stars right here in the Kingston area.

In this case, it's a pretty female — Shirley Van Kleek of New Paltz, an IBM secretary, who has successfully invaded a world thoroughly dominated by men.

The New Paltz lass has done well in her first year. She has been in the top 10 all season in regional races and finished 10th and 11th in two National events where she was competing against top National point holders.

She currently races seventh in Area I (New Jersey, New York, New England states) points in her class. Her team partner, Arlene Lanzieri, of Stamford, Conn., a three-year veteran, is in third place. All other point leaders are men.

She currently races seventh in Area I (New Jersey, New York, New England states) points in her class. Her team partner, Arlene Lanzieri, of Stamford, Conn., a three-year veteran, is in third place. All other point leaders are men.

The girls met for the first time in the spring of 1965 at the famed Connecticut track—Lime Rock Park—and Shirley was on Arlene's crew several times during the season.

During an all-night towing safari from Bridgeport, Conn., to Marlboro, Maryland for a National race in September, 1965, the two women and Curt Ridgard of Bridgeport, the only official male member of the now organized team, discussed the possibility of forming a female team with Ridgard as mechanic.

Before the weekend was over, it was decided there would be a female racing team in 1966 and Ridgard set out to find a second Sprite, though Shirley's dream for two years was to drive an Autodynamics Formula Vee.

First Driver's School

Miss Van Kleek went to her first drivers school at Lime Rock in March of this year, with Ernie Steubensand of Poughkeepsie as her instructor. In April she attended a two-day school at Bridgehampton, N.Y., where her instructor was Frank Carr of Bayonne, N.J.

After several laps of instruction, Carr announced it was time for Miss Van Kleek to make her first solo spin. She remembers it vividly.

"My second lap around I slid, doing a 360, off the track, winding up to the axles in sand where I sat the remainder of that session. I knew there would be race days with exactly these same track conditions and while standing out there for approximately 30 minutes, I had plenty of thoughts cross my mind."

A staunch advocate of drivers' safety, Miss Van Kleek never forgot the lessons of that day. She feels the drivers' schools make for a better driver, even if one doesn't plan to go into competition driving. She feels there would be far fewer accidents if prospective license holders attended schools such as SCCA drivers schools.

Miss Van Kleek qualified for her National competition license in July and has raced in two national events. She values her competition license dearly and is determined to do nothing that would jeopardize it.

Looking for Sponsor

Though the girls are racing in the smallest foreign car production class, racing is expensive and they hope they will be lucky enough to have a sponsor next season to underwrite their expenses. The plan to compete in all Area I races again, a few more Nationals and possibly venture out of the region to other tracks.

The young ladies are philosophical about their success in the racing world of men.

"I feel they (male drivers) treat us like any other driver," she says. "They don't go out of their way to either help us or hinder us on the track. I'm sure there must be some who resent us, especially when we finish ahead of them, but generally the fellows are willing to help in any problems that arise."

And so, the sports car racing world is no longer the exclusive domain of men.

McNally Chose The Orioles Over Dodgers in 1960

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, who lost in the bonus bidding for Dave McNally six years ago, face the young Baltimore Orioles' left-hander today in the opening game of the 1966 World Series.

Although he has been with the Orioles four years and helped them to the American League pennant this season with a 13-6 record, McNally is a virtual unknown when compared with Los Angeles starter Don Drysdale.

"I'm probably the most unsuccessful pitcher ever to start a World Series opener," McNally said on the eve of his big challenge. "But that doesn't matter. When you go out on the field, you either do or don't."

McNally has understated his own case somewhat. Although he completed only five games, McNally kept the Orioles close in contests and Baltimore was 22-11 in games he started.

Team Not Awed

"Drysdale certainly has earned his reputation," McNally said. "But he's lost a lot of games. Too. We're not scared of him."

McNally has come along steadily since turning down a $85,000 bonus offer from the Dodgers in 1960 and signing with Baltimore for $5,000 less.

The 23-year-old left-hander said Orioles scouts Jim Russo and Jim Wilson sold him on the Baltimore youth movement, and a lawyer friend told him the extra $5,000 would mean little difference after taxes.

McNally shared almost half of his bonus money with his mother, Mrs. Beth McNally of Billings, Mont., and began an investment program for himself. His father was killed on Okinawa during World War II, leaving three older children besides Dave.

Lou Gorman, farm director of the Orioles, describes McNally as "even-tempered, not easily ruffled and a quiet competitor—the perfect make-up for a pitcher."

Visitors Show 1-1 Record Under Coach Don Smith

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Flushed with a win and a "near miss" in starts against Albany and New Rochelle, Kingston High returns home Saturday afternoon for a non-league engagement with Poughkeepsie, always a tough rival. Game time at Dietz Stadium is 1:30 p.m.

The Pioneers, coached by the first time by Don Smith, have split two engagements. They beat Wappingers, 7-0, in their debut but were overpowered, 20-0, Monday by Roosevelt. This leaves the visitors with a 1-1 record in DCSL action.

Bill Hurley, who took over the coaching reins at Kingston three seasons ago, has not lost a grid game to Poughkeepsie. The clubs tied, 7-7, in 1963 and the KHS players scored two straight whitesashes, 19-0, and 21-0, the past two years.

Early Fumble

Hurley scouted Poughkeepsie in its setback against Roosevelt. "They (Poughkeepsie) got into a hole early with a fumble and had to play catch-up football the rest of the way so you really couldn't tell too much about the club," he said.

Smith has the Pioneers working from an I formation and there is good size up front, both on offense and defense. Craig Digillo, veteran quarterback, directs the team.

Other veterans are end Charlie Ellis and guards Phil Lewis and Ron Dennis. There is also a sprinkling of other varsity players, most of whom saw limited action last year.

The KHS coach reports his squad will be at full strength for the Pioneers. Gerard Boggs, who suffered a slight ankle injury, will start at fullback. His loss for most of the second half at New Rochelle was keenly felt.

Saturday's game is the only home afternoon tilt slated by the locals. They meet Port Jervis and Vincentian Institute under the arc lights.

In UCAL action this Saturday, Walkkill plays at Liberty, New Paltz at Marlboro, Pine Bush at Rondout and Onteora at Highland.

In other games, Emerson (New Jersey) is at Newburgh, and Xavier High at Cardinal Farley in non-league action while in the DCSL, it will be Wappinger at Roosevelt, Lourdes at Saugerties and Arlington at Beacon.

Rotation Set

As the rotation now stands, Drysdale, 13-6, will be followed to the mound by Koufax, 27-9, and Claude Osteen, 17-14. Jim Palmer, 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6, will follow McNally, 13-6. Osteen and Bunker hook up in Baltimore Saturday when the scene shifts to the American League city.

The Dodgers remained the 8-5 choice because of their pitching and speed. Alston's pitching staff has a 2.63 earned run average and 52 complete games compared with a 3.35 ERA and 23 complete games for the Orioles.

But Bauer has the bombers, particularly Frank Robinson, who became the first player in a decade to win batting's triple crown by leading the league with a .316 batting average, 49 homers and 122 runs batted in.

Over-all, the Orioles have hit .259 with 175 homers to 256 for the Dodgers, who have only 108 homers.

Wallkill Nips Rondout, 13-6

Wallkill moved 59 yards to the winning touchdown with less than four minutes to play and beat Rondout Valley, 13-6, Monday in a UCAL game at the winner's field. It was the varsity coaching debut for Ken Brooker in the circuit.

The winners took over on the 41 and were aided by two penalties to move to paydirt. Quarterback Bob Drutman scored the TD from the 16 and then passed to Dan Riggins for the extra point.

The other Wallkill touchdown was Jim Mullen's 90-yard punt return to open the game. Rondout followed with its score, moving 60 yards in six plays. Quarterback Charlie George hit Jim Rowe with a 21 yard scoring aerial.

Rondout is now 0-2 and will host Pine Bush this Saturday. Coach Chick Meehan said the Ganders were much improved over their opening loss to Warwick and he paid special tribute to the defense.

In statistics, Wallkill rushed for 101 yards and passed for 65. Rondout had 92 yards on the ground and passed for 40 more.

Drysdale and McNally Pitch Opening Game at Los Angeles

Pick Dodgers To Win Series

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Big Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Baltimore's young Dave McNally were on the mound and catcher Andy Etchebarren was on the lookout for Maury Wills as the World Series opened today.

A sellout crowd of 55,000 began filing into Dodger Stadium early for the 4 p.m., EDT, start of the Series that is expected to be a classic match-up of Dodger pitching and speed vs. Oriole power.

Both Etchebarren, the Orioles' rookie catcher, and Wills, the Dodger shortstop, were well aware that the entire battle could revolve around Baltimore's ability to control the Dodgers on the bases — something Minnesota couldn't do at Dodger Stadium last year.

"I'm looking for Wills and Davis (outfielder Willie Davis) to try and do a lot of running," Etchebarren said.

Etchebarren said the Orioles had paid particular attention to that facet of the game the last weeks of the season.

Work on Pickoff

"We've been working on it the last two weeks," he said. "We've also worked on a few more pickoff plays."

Meanwhile, Wills inferred that the Dodgers would test Etchebarren early because he is a rookie.

"You'd have to consider that," Wills said. "A thing like that shouldn't go untried."

Wills explained that the Dodgers "don't go out there and run blindly," but try to force the other club back to fundamentals.

The Dodgers' ability to put the squeeze on with speed is one of the major reasons Manager Hank Bauer of the Orioles tapped McNally for the opening assignment. A left-hander, McNally would be more effective in holding the Dodgers on base.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston would have preferred to open with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax, but had to switch to Drysdale when Koufax was forced to pitch the full nine innings in the pennant-clincher at Philadelphia last Sunday.

Rotation Set

As the rotation now stands, Drysdale, 13-6, will be followed to the mound by Koufax, 27-9, and Claude Osteen, 17-14. Jim Palmer, 15-10, and Wally Bunker, 10-6, will follow McNally, 13-6. Osteen and Bunker hook up in Baltimore Saturday when the scene shifts to the American League city.

UCLA, Michigan State And Irish Are Picked

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — There are more ups and downs in college football than there are in a Wall Street stock report.

Last week's wanderings on the rim of Upset Gulch brought a meager .709 picking average and dropped the season's figures to .726.

Michigan State over Michigan: Bubba Smith, Michigan State's defensive end, is 6-7 and 265 pounds. At that size he is big enough to be both the Smith Brothers and make the Wolverines cough up that ball.

UCLA over Rice: Gary Beban and his rugged playmates make the Rice Owls say "Who?"

Notre Dame over Army: The surprising Cadets have allowed only one touchdown in their first three games but Notre Dame is in a different league. The Irish to get at least three TDs.

Alabama over Clemson: The Crimson Tide has both an offense and a defense.

Arkansas over Baylor: Each team has a top flight quarterback but Jon Brittenum of the Porkers has more able helpers.

Southern California over Washington: The Trojan defense will be stacked to stop the running of Don Moore and the plunging of Jeff Jordan.

Nebraska over Wisconsin: One of the poorest Wisconsin teams of recent years collides with one of Nebraska's best.

Ohio State over Illinois: If you don't have courage, don't bet on this one.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: For the fourth straight week the TV fans will watch a pair of unbeaten teams. The Tennessee defense, which hasn't yet allowed a touchdown, to melt the effectiveness of Lenny Snow.

Florida over Florida State: Steve Spurrier will find his targets often enough to pull it out although this meeting is more than a game for Florida State.

Dartmouth over Princeton: For years this meeting ended the Ivy League season but here it is on World Series Saturday, with Dartmouth the host. That makes it even tougher for Princeton.

Texas over Oklahoma: The annual Dallas battle, Super Bill Bradley, the young Texas quarterback is out with an injury, but sophomore Andy White, who completed six of eight passes last week, is expected to be a capable replacement.

Daily Double Frowned On Three Years at State Tracks

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Would you believe there was a time there was no daily double at New York's race tracks?

The Daily Double seems such an accepted practice at race tracks throughout the country these days it is hard to believe the DD was abolished at the New York thoroughbred ovals after the 1945 season and not restored until the start of the 1949 season.

The three-year banishment of the DD was recalled today in the wake of the abolishment of the Twin Double at Yonkers Raceway, a harness race track. The TD earlier had been dropped by the Atlantic City thoroughbred track which substituted the quindella form of betting on two races.

This form of betting, in which the bettor collects if he picks the first two horses to finish, either 1-2 or 2-1, proved such a success at the New Jersey shore track that Garden State Park also will offer it at its fall meeting opening next Wednesday.

horses concerned frequently completely overlooked."

Too Many Complaints

The commission said the daily double was the "source of more complaints to the commission than all the other angles of racing combined. There seemed to be a widespread opinion among the patrons that the daily double either was not conducted honestly or could be conducted dishonestly. Meticulous investigation showed that the patrons were wrong and that there was no possibility of fraud."

In another comment the commission, declared the "daily double device is almost based on chance, devoid of the form that is, or should be, the basis of wagering."

The DD was reinstated in 1949 after a poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N.J., at the Empire City at Jamaica meeting in October, 1948, showed that of 1,264 personal interviews 81 per cent favored the return of the DD, eight per cent opposed it and 11 per cent were indifferent.

In 1945, the commission reported, $21,726,828 was wagered on the DD. Last year this has increased to $62,575,876 including $3,413,754 at the Finger Lakes track opened several years ago.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Syracuse football coach Ben Schwartzwalder is resorting to secret workouts this week for its home game against N.Y. Saturday.

He ordered the secrecy after last week's 28-7 drubbing of Maryland, the first victory in three outings for the Orangemen.

Schwartzwalder also said Tuesday that senior Dick Murphy of East Syracuse would take over kick-off duties from Alex Gousseff, who, the coach said, "is not doing too well."

Rondout Jayvees Nip Wallkill, 6-0

George Sherman banged over from the one with four minutes left to play as the Rondout Valley Jayvees nipped Wallkill, 6-0, Monday. The touchdown finished a 30-yard drive engineered by coach Larry Skalla's club.

The Rondout defense was outstanding, intercepting three of Wallkill's passes.

Russian Horses Complete Field For UN Feature

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — The foreign representatives in the $100,000 United Nations Trot at Yonkers Raceway Oct. 15 was completed today with the addition of two Russian-owned horses—American-bred Apex Hanover and Osman.

Roquepine of France previously accepted an invitation to compete in the 1 1/2-mile race. The five American representatives will be selected following Saturday's $50,000 Gotham Trot at Yonkers.

Apex Hanover, exchanged in 1965 by Royal E. Cleveland of Camp Hill, Pa., for seven Russian-bred yearlings, will be driven by 31-year-old Maria Burdova. The 3-year-old stallion broke stunts and finished sixth with Miss Burdova driving in last year's race but has a 1966 record of seven victories, one second and one third in 16 starts.

Osman, also a 7-year-old, has a 7-2-1 record for 13 outings. He'll be driven in the U.N. by 39-year-old Ivan Iarotzkov.

Young Boosts Points Over 200

Claude Young of Winding Brook has boosted his leading total to 203 points in the North-eastern New York PGA's Molson Breweries Limited point system competition. He is 35 points ahead of runnerup Ed Bosse of Colonie Country Club.

Other leaders: Robert Mix, Albany CC, 142; Glen Young, Pine Haven, 131; Jim Murray, Pine Brook, 130; Alex Sinclair, Mohawk, 129; Bill Griesick, Catskill, 118; Frank Stuhler, Antlers, 115; John Gaucan, Van Schaick, 112; Robert Smith, Wolferts Roost, 108; Marty Czaikali, Norman-side, 104; Ralph Montoya, Mohawk CC, 98; Jim Hutchins, Woodstock, 95; Armand Farina, Clifton Knolls, 93; Frank Misarti, Green Mansions, 83.

In the Kingston area, Scotty Robertson of Wiltwyck has 71 points and Alex Gerlak of Tvalifskill, 60.

Kings Point Frosh Earns Grid Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — For his stellar play in his first college football game, freshman fullback Dave Sullivan of Kings Point was named today to the week's team of Division III of the Eastern College Athletic Conference.

Sullivan carried 23 times for 91 yards and the touchdown that salvaged a 7-7 tie with Union. Other members of the team included: Ends — Roderick Middleton, Trinity, and Chris Rodger, Alfred; tackles — John Siebert, Hamilton, and Al Yatk, Wilkes; guards — Bill Uhrich, Susquehanna, and Eric Blumberg, Swarthmore; center — Eugene Wallace, Delaware Valley; halfbacks — Dave Zimmerman, Albright, and Dick Edwards, Central Connecticut; quarterback — Gerry Matcalif, St. Lawrence.

James Murphy of Bates was named Sophomore of the Week for completing 12 of 27 passes for 146 yards, including one touchdown, in a loss to Trinity.

Cornell and Pennsylvania both have notched two victories and no defeats. Last week, the Big Red tripped Colgate, 15-14, while Pennsylvania shut out Brown, 20-0.

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Because of a breakdown in the electrical system, the Youngstown at Southern Illinois football game will be played Saturday afternoon instead of Saturday night.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp

HOW STILL CAN YOU HUNT?

A STILL-HUNTER WHO CAN WAIT PATIENTLY, WITHOUT MOVING, FOR A SQUIRREL TO SHOW ITSELF, CAN USE THIS ART IN HUNTING HIS GAME, ALSO. ONE WHO FIDGETS WHILE HE WAITS, SIGNALS HIS PRESENCE TO AN ALERT SQUIRREL, DEER, OR TURKEY. PRACTICE FOR ONE PAYS OFF WHEN HUNTING THE OTHER.

HE'S THE KING—Hank Bauer, manager of the Baltimore Orioles, runs the head of Frank Robinson, baseball's first Triple Crown winner in 10 years. Bauer, who was rewarded for leading the Orioles to the American League pennant with a fat new contract, is a leading candidate for Manager of the Year. Robinson won the league's three-pronged crown with a .316 batting average, 122 runs batted in, and 49 home runs. (AP Wirephoto)

Bavarians Next for Kickers

Pennant Hopes For Sport Club Will Be Tested

The pennant potential of Kingston Sport Kickers in the 1966-67 season of the League Division of the German-American Soccer Association will be put to the test Sunday at Oehler's Mountain Lodge. Game time is 2:30 p. m.

The Kickers take on the league leading Bavarian club of New York and a win would be a big psychological boost for the locals who have lost and tied in two starts.

Bavarians and West New York are tied with 5 points in the infant season, with Bridgeport and White Plains next with four each. The two leaders battled to a 1-1 tie last Sunday.

Kingston fielded 15 players for its unsuccessful stand against the Free University of West Berlin. From this group Manager Bob Graves should be able to pick a winning combination for the remainder of the fall season.

Alfred Schenko, the Kickers' new goalie, will be watched closely by league observers. First reports on Schenko were encouraging despite the five goals the Free University of Berlin collegians slammed past him in the Shrine benefit game. If Schenko proves a first line goalie, the Kickers' pennant hopes will soar.

Nicklaus Pick In World Match

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Jack Nicklaus says he's out to prove the bookies are right by showing he's just as good a match player as a stroke player in golf.

"I must admit I'm playing pretty well," said Nicklaus after a practice round for the World Match Play Tournament Thursday over the Wenworth west course.

Nicklaus, reigning British Open champion, justified his favorite spot at 5 to 2 in the three-day tournament for prizes totaling $44,800.

Nicklaus has won the U.S. Open, Masters, the British Open and the Canada Cup individual title. All were based on stroke play.

There's only one of the eight men in this field who has a better record, defending champion Gary Player of South Africa.

The latest odds against Player winning are 5 to 1. Ahead of him are Nicklaus at 5 to 2, Arnold Palmer 7 to 2, and Billy Casper, the current U.S. Open champ, 4 to 1.

At Dietz Stadium

UCCC Harriers Will Open Season Thursday

Ulster Community College will open its cross country season Thursday with a meet against Orange at Dietz Stadium and coach Dick Glazer is hopeful the Senators will give a good account of themselves.

"Some of our boys have been hampered by leg injuries, but they hope to be ready for the opener," Glazer said. The meet, scheduled to begin at 4:30, will take place over a four mile course.

Returnees are Barry Hopkins, former Ontario star and John Sullivan of Kingston. Other candidates include John Roettger, Pine Bush; Ken Heppner, Kingston; Brian Elmendorf, Kingston; Gary Johnson, Kingston; Dave Loper, Kingston.

The schedule:

Date	Opponent	Where
Oct. 6	Orange	Home
Oct. 12	Dutchess	Away
Oct. 17	Adirondack	Home
Oct. 20	New Paltz	Home
Oct. 25	Sullivan	Away
Oct. 29	Albany State	Away
Nov. 1	Towland	Home
Nov. 5	Region XV	New York

No Surprises in Dodgers Lineup

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There weren't any surprises in the Los Angeles Dodgers' starting lineup today when they took the field for the opening of the World Series with the Baltimore Orioles.

There was Capt. Maury Wills at shortstop, gimp knee and all, and Manager Walter Alston's favorite "rookie," Jim Gilliam, who really isn't a rookie after all these years with the Dodgers at third base.

Taking the mound was 6-foot-6 Don Drysdale, hoping to get back on a winning habit which was interrupted rather unceremoniously after two innings at Philadelphia last Sunday.

"This is my last Series," said the 38-year-old Gilliam, who has retired and been unretried for the past several years. The Dodgers name Gilliam as a coach in the spring and by mid-April Gilliam is back playing third.

The Alston theory, which has worked for the past two years, is to play Jim for his bat in the early innings and, if the occasion warrants, replace him in the later innings by the brilliant defensive man, young John Kennedy.

Drysdale and company face at least one familiar man in the Orioles' Frank Robinson, the American League's slugging champion with a .316 average, 49 home runs and 122 runs batted in.

Drysdale, asked about Robinson in the Dodgers' final pre-Series workout, said he has great respect for him. Don, of course, pitched against Robinson when he was at Cincinnati.

Far West Passers Lead in Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — The Far West has been far and away the most successful section in producing individual national leaders in major college football statistics this season.

Latest figures compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed today that Ray McDonald, Idaho fullback, is the pacesetter in rushing with 432 yards in 80 carries. Danny Holman of San Jose State is No. 1 in pass completions with 60 in 92 attempts.

Other players from Far Western schools at the head of their classes are Doug Flansburg of Washington State in pass receiving with 27 for 298 yards; Albie Taylor of Utah State, kick-off returns with 246 yards; California's Jerry Bradley, punt returns, 188 yards, and Wayne Stewart, also of California, in interceptions with 4 for 132 yards.

Hank Washington of West Texas State is the total offense leader with 859 yards.

Does Saratoga lose its charm in Autumn?

Not by a long shot.

Autumn's the best time of year for Saratoga. The scenery's more beautiful than ever. The roads are clean and fast, and so's the track. Best of all, it's the perfect time to relax after a hectic summer.

We're just picking up steam on our exciting Fall season. Why not come tonight?

Diplomats Wary But Won't 'Kill' Proposed Parley

By JOSE M. ORLANDO

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Diplomats in Buenos Aires say most of the American governments realize the proposed conference of the hemisphere presidents promises to achieve little. But, as one puts it, "its become a sacred cow and nobody wants to be the first to kill it."

The presidential conference was first proposed last May by Argentine President Arturo Illia. The proposal gained momentum when President Johnson endorsed it a few weeks later. Then Illia was overthrown by the Argentine military, and Gen. Juan Carlos Onganía replaced him.

Thus far there has been little agreement on time, place or agenda for the conference. Buenos Aires; Punta Del Este, Uruguay; Lima, Peru; San Jose, Costa Rica, all have been suggested as sites. The current word is Mexico City next March.

There is general agreement the presidents would deal mainly with top-level economic matters to give a push to lagging plans for Latin-American development and economic integration.

The United States reportedly has proposed two subjects: boosting the Alliance for Progress and cutting down the arms race in Latin America. The latter is considered a move to quiet congressional critics of U.S. military aid to coup-prone Latin republics.

Several nations have advanced no ideas at all for the summit gathering, diplomats said here, because they feel the summit will do little more than sanction what the inter-American foreign ministers approve earlier.

Cool Trend To Continue

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday:

A cool trend will persist through most of the period, with some slight warming by the weekend. Temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees below normal. Daytime highs will be in the middle 50s to low 60s at the beginning and in the upper 50s and 60s later in the period. Nighttime lows will be in the middle 30s to low 40s most nights but near the freezing level in scattered low areas one or two nights. Precipitation is expected to be light and mainly insignificant. There is some probability of scattered light showers about Saturday.

Students to Be Blessed Tonight At Temple Rites

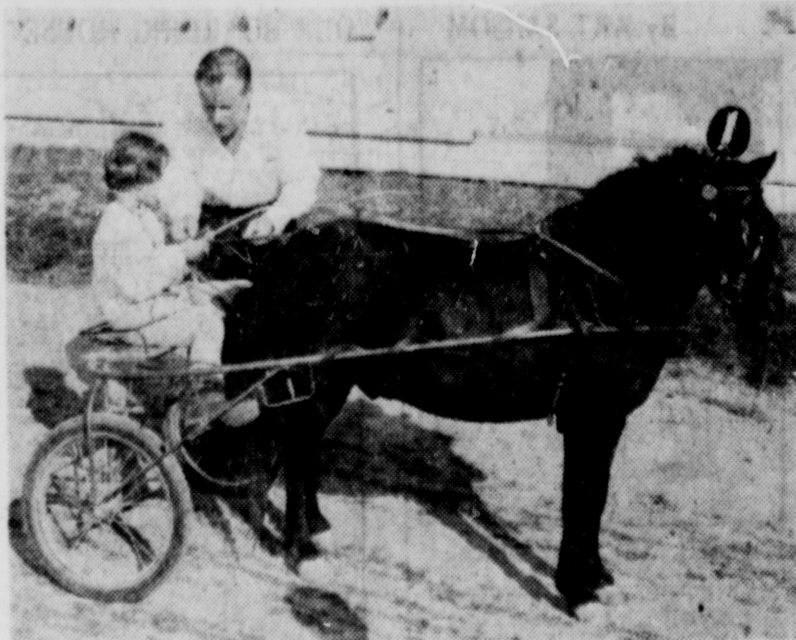

The annual consecration service for the new students of Temple Emanuel religious school will be held tonight as part of the Simchas Torah celebration beginning 7:45.

Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will conduct the special service and will be assisted by Leonard Zimet, director of the religious school, the children's choir, Temple choir and organist. Grades one and three will sing special songs for the occasion. The five Torah scrolls will be paraded around the sanctuary with singing and flag waving. The new students will receive a special blessing from the rabbi. There will be a social hour immediately after the service.

DIFFERENT KIND OF RACE — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller presents first place blue ribbon to a very proud young lady after she took high honors in children's racing at the recent Chatham Fair. Eight-year-old Maureen Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fair Kelly, owners of Cherry Hill Ranch, Kripplush, was one of five young jockeys entered in the race. This is her first year in racing, according to her father. She is shown with her horse, Blue Jack. According to Kelly, he is planning to open a race track at the ranch at a later date. ## Fish Predicts LBJ-DeGaulle Talk After Vote

Hamilton Fish Jr. Republican for Congress in the 28th District, today predicted a meeting between President Johnson and President DeGaulle "shortly after the Nov. 8 elections."

The Republican candidate made the prediction following a meeting yesterday between Johnson and Maurice Couve de Murville, foreign minister of France, following which it was announced that such a meeting (Johnson-DeGaulle) might prove useful.

Fish pointed out that on Sept. 26 in a Viet Nam and foreign debate in Hudson he had suggested such a meeting.

Fish said, "Following that Congressman Resnick launched a vituperative attack upon the president of France and on Sept. 28 said on the floor of Congress: 'I am thoroughly appalled by this suggestion to rely on President DeGaulle, of all people, for a peaceful settlement in Viet Nam. I consider President DeGaulle to be thoroughly unqualified to mediate a peaceful settlement of anything, anywhere in the world... Mr. Fish's statement leaves me agast.'"

"Just nine days after my original statement and six days after Resnick attacked DeGaulle on the floor of Congress," Fish said, "the President of the United States meets with the foreign minister of France to set up just such a meeting."

"I wonder if our absentee Congressman is as appalled by this act of our President as he was by my suggestion," Fish concluded.
